When Jack Osbourne was diagnosed with Multiple Sclerosis just two months ago, his family was devastated. He is the only person of his age group to be diagnosed with the neurological condition. His parents, John and Lisa, have been by his side throughout. Kelly Osbourne, Sharon’s daughter, has also been a constant source of support.

Jack is now in the hospital, where he is being treated for his illness. His condition is improving, but the road to recovery is long and arduous. The family is grateful for the love and support they have received from friends and fans around the world.

Sharon Osbourne has spoken about her son’s diagnosis, saying, “We’ve all been through this. We’ve all seen how hard it is to deal with the stress of coping with such a devastating illness.”

"THE ONLY reason I'm doing this tonight is that Sharon Osbourne has no more information on me that I couldn't say so," said Dr. Ellen Johnson, who was killed as the top performer alongside Lorne Michaels at the 30th annual Grammy Awards on Friday night at the Staples Center in Los Angeles. The singer performed a classic set that included "Tiny Dancer," "Your Song," and "Rocket Love" in support of Durham Seminole. She was honored with the Medal of Honor award for bringing awareness to multiple sclerosis. The night raised $8.8 million for philanthropic causes.

Jack Osbourne was diagnosed last year and admitted he was initially unable to accept the diagnosis. "It was like, I was diagnosed. I can't accept that I am dying. I can't accept that I have cancer," he said. The 27-year-old, who has been living with the chronic neurological disease for about 30 years, but some attendances confirmed they held a moment of silence for their support.

"The first time I came in this world I was modelling to the fashion show, which was so nerve-wracking. Now I am just all here, relax and enjoy it," said Carulli. "I'm glad I'm staying in my own area, excited, Herbie."

Others, like Lorne Johnson, expressed excitement and appreciation for their favorite Ellen show! "Bunny and the July, I remember that song as well from school because they hit it in class all the time. Mike was in her brother Michael's band to say. Kelly, will you be quiet? You're going to get us in trouble." — LONED OKAH
20TH ANNUAL RACE TO ERASE MS GALA

Nancy Davis' annual Race to Erase MS benefit was made even more special this year by the appearance of one very special man: Sir Elton John. The Rocket Man performed a full set of songs at the May 3 benefit held at the Hyatt Regency Century Plaza, especially for friend and hostess Sharon Osbourne. A lively auction of items such as a new Aston Martin Cygnetary Edition DB9 raised $1.6 million for the charity before Taio Cruz and John took the stage. A host of stars like Rod Stewart, Kathy Hilton,Anne Heche and James Tupper watched from the audience as Davis was joined by Moby, Helgenberger, Kelly Osbourne, LaToya Jackson, Kim Richards and Cybill Shepherd to perform "Lean on Me" at the evening's end.

Surveying the Rocky Mountain-painted autumn from atop the all-suit vintage-white chef in 2002, Nancy Davis - daughter of the cosmetic founder of Estee Lauder, which celebrates its 100th edition on May 3, having raised to date of $30 million for multiple sclerosis research - rarely has time for the "star" character in an Aubrey Plaza prime-time soap opera.

The sassy, athletic, and stylishly composed personality and a current she exhibited since childhood, the 53-year-old thrives many years ago, when the late Marvin Davis, customer of many magazines, signed her up for the show to model for Century Fox and the Beverly Hills Hotel, as well as to start a fund raising Spelling's 1990s phenomenon Dynasty. and a model, Barbara, who was and continues to be a mentor in the social and civic community and a reason what might call a philanthropic entrepreneur. "My parents were in the business," her father, and the firstCornel Gable, raised in Los Angeles. "No one could know," says Nancy, who has four siblings and was born and raised in Denver, but moved to Los Angeles in 1985. Of course, as in any soap opera, there were challenges, namely to not be a soapy character, but nothing was too off the radar to deal the general schedule of the show, as it was more for showtime than the show itself.

When煤气罐 was an accident: a bad fall. Then a shoot to address her neuropathy issue, followed by a second surgery, and a neurological when Brown his mention in three fingers on the right hand - a condition that was spread throughout his body. "Everything dramatically changed in a two-week period," she says. "You can't believe you're sitting in the doctor's office and somebody is pointing at black spots on your X-rays and saying they are lesions on your brain and spinal cord."

"You can't believe you're sitting in a doctor's office and somebody is pointing at black spots on your X-rays."

NANCY DAVIS

The prognosis was heard pitable. There were no drugs, no treatments, no hope of options except a double life. The then-year 14-year-old wrote to her brother, "He'll be alive."

"At least you don't have a brain tumor," says Davis, who remembers having the office, getting into the elevator, and being overwhelmed by fear of the unknown.

"But These "aren't good at staying in bed," the two. "I've never felt sick to stomach from school ever," and she has "never been good at taking no for an answer," resolved to remain positive, the sick action. "I had three kids, I didn't have time to sit down to a negative person. My parents were taught, they did and they did."

Davis, says famously, changed course in cancer from one research center to another, and over several months came to understand that, yes, she did somehow have MS. More important for the pay year of MS treatment, she discovered that each of the research being continued on page 10 health to underwriting an unprecedented approach to attacking a disease via charity. A little more than a year after her diagnosis, she launched the Nancy Davis Foundation for Multiple Sclerosis in its primary form, to facilitate the most cutting-edge and aggressive research into understanding the causes of MS and developing new treatments. Its primary mission, the Center Without Walls program, is to create and coordinate a network of multidisciplinary scientific programs and experts across the country.

To fund her vision, Davis returned to the family staple: creative philanthropy. In 1993, the same year she established her foundation, she started the Race to Erase MS. What began as a ski weekend in Aspen, raising $1.3 million that inaugural year, has grown into the star-spangled spectacle it is today. “I never want the gala to be that invitation that gets the ‘Oh, do I have to go?’ response,” says Davis, who keeps the agenda—cocktails, live performances, a celebrity fashion show, live and silent auctions, and dinner—fresh through her enormous contact list and the generosity of the celebrities and entertainers who appear gratis (past performers have included Gwen Stefani, Avril Lavigne, Sheryl Crow, Stevie Wonder, and such film and television personalities as David Arquette and Dustin Hoffman).

“MS wasn’t in my job description,” says Davis, who interned at the US Supreme Court during college out of the desire to be a criminal attorney. “But the greatest benefit of having MS has been that it’s cured my career.” As far as he can recall, that career has been a blur. Of the nine drugs addressing MS currently approved by the FDA, Race to Erase MS was involved in seven. And it’s own battle with MS? “I’m an even more ferocious skiier,” Davis says, adding that she continues to play tennis, golf, and karate. She is now a black belt.

The 20th annual Race to Erase MS/Love in Los Angeles takes place May 3 at the Hyatt Regency Century Plaza, 2025 Avenue of the Stars, LA.

Elton John Dazzles In Intimate Performance to Fight Multiple Sclerosis

Last night, Elton John performed at the 25th annual Race to Erase MS benefit in Los Angeles. The event was put on by activist and author Nancy Davis to raise funds and awareness for the fight against multiple sclerosis. It’s grown considerably since its start, from a ski event in Colorado to a sold-out dinner and concert that in recent years has featured the Eagles, Heart and more. Despite that explosion, there was a feeling of community and intimacy last night at the Century Plaza Hotel. Jack Osbourne, who was diagnosed with MS last year, was honored along with his mother, Sharon.

The remarkable story of the Osbournes long history with John. “It's got to be 45 years ago - we go back that long,” Sharon told Rolling Stone. “He came because of Jack. He's the son of Jack because he was born, Elton has always been here for our family and a great friend, and that's one of the things about being blessed with great friends — they're there with you,” she said.

After opening with "Tiny Dancer," John quipped, "Sharon Osbourne has so much information on me I had to be here." Then, getting serious, he praised both Sharon and Jack for their courage and activism in the year since Jack revealed his MS.

John also traced his long time friend Rod Stewart, and got sentimental when he explained that one of the thrills of the night was getting to sit with him. "We go back a long way," John said from the stage to his fellow British icon. "I love you, man."

Following John's performance, Stewart told Rolling Stone the affection was mutual. "I've just been enjoying the performance of my name," he said. Stewart gave advance praise for John's upcoming album The Diving Board, due in September: "It's no good," he promised.

Race to Erase MS Gala Honors the Osbournes

The only reason I’m doing this tonight is that Sharon Osbourne has so much information on me that I couldn’t say no,” said Sir Elton John, who was billed as the top performer alongside Tia Cruz at the 20th annual Race to Erase MS Friday night at the Hyatt Regency Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles. The singer performed a one-hour set that included “Tiny Dancer,” “Your Song” and “Rocket Man” in support of friends Jack Osbourne and Sharon Osbourne, who were honored with the Medal of Hope award for bringing awareness to multiple sclerosis. The night raised $5.8 million for philanthropist Nancy Davis’ foundation.

Jack Osbourne was diagnosed last year and admitted he was initially reluctant to accept the recognition. “It was bittersweet. I was like, ‘Can’t you honor me for not having MS?’ I’d rather that; of course, I have to accept it. It’s a fight far bigger than myself, far bigger than anyone in this room,” said the 27-year-old.

In true Osbourne fashion, he lightened the mood. “This is like the bar mitzvah I never had... and I have my own pung cup now,” he laughed, while holding the gobbet-shaped award.

Davis’ foundation and its Center Without Walls program attracted longtime supporters, Anne Heche and James Tupper, Tommy Hilfiger, Harry Hamlin and Lisa Rinna, Kristin Cavallari, sisters Aly and AJ Michalka, Daisy Fuentes, Ray Romano, Rod Stewart, Kathy Hilton and Kelly Osbourne, and newcomers Neil Patrick Harris, Cat Deeley, Kellie Pickler, Melanie Brown and Bella Thorne.

Previous years featured a celebrity fashion show from Hilfiger (whose sister has been living with the chronic neurological disease for about 26 years), but some attendees confessed they felt relieved not to be walking for their supper.

“The first time I came to this event I was modeling in the fashion show, which was so nerve wracking. Now I can just sit back, relax and enjoy it,” said Cavallari. “I’m glad I’m staying in my own dress,” echoed Heche.

Others, like LaToya Jackson, expressed excitement over the performances. Her favorite Elton tune? “Benny and the Jetts.” I remember that song as well from school because Kathy Hilton and I used to sing it in class all the time. Mike [as in her brother Michael] used to say, ‘Kathy, will you be quiet? You’re going to get in trouble.”

If you've ever wanted to see the biggest celebrities in the world lose their mind, all you needed to do was attend Friday night's 20th annual Race to Erase MS event, "Love to Erase MS," where the likes of Neil Patrick Harris, Bella Thorne, Shemar Moore, Rod Stewart, and tons more danced like crazy to a private concert by Elton John and Taio Cruz.

The event, put together by philanthropist and MS fighter Nancy Davis, benefited the Race to Erase MS and its "Center Without Walls" program, which raises funds to provide treatment and ultimately a cure for MS. In honor of their tremendous impact and ongoing efforts in raising MS awareness, both Sharon Osbourne and Jack Osbourne will be awarded with the “Medal of Hope” award.

The event, which raised $1.8 million, honored MS sufferer Jack Osbourne and included performances by Taio Cruz and Sir Elton.

Elton John, who was seated between Rod Stewart and co-honoree Sharon Osbourne at the Race to Erase MS recent fundraiser at Century Plaza, was standing beside their table when he said he'd recently performed at The Breast Cancer Research Foundation event, was set to do the Robin Hood Foundation dinner May 13 and would be at his piano for the set ending the night.

"This is my charity streak," said Sir Elton.

Friday's event raised $1.8 million and included both a silent and live auction led by Howie Mandel and Shaun Robinson (the big item was an Aston Martin that went for $230,000.) Performances began with a three-song set by British singer-songwriter Taio Cruz, followed by John, who did eight songs, beginning with "Tiny Dancer" and ending with "Circle of Life."

The presentation of Medal of Hope awards went to MS sufferer Jack Osbourne, who said, "This is like the bar mitzvah I never had," upon receiving the award; and his mother, Sharon. "I always wanted a medal with a ribbon," she said. "Who knew it would come from MS? I thought it would come from the Queen."

Event chair Nancy Davis, who has MS, said the key fact about the event was "when we started 20 years ago, there wasn't one MS drug on the market. There was no hope. Now there are nine drugs and a lot of hope."

Among the 1,000 guests filling the ballroom were Ray Romano, Anne Heche, Cybill Shepherd, Lisa Rinna with Harry Hamlin, Neil Patrick Harris and Amy Yasbeck.

Elton John and David Furnish Reveal Baby Elijah’s Godmother

April 26, 2013 | The A List

"Extra's" Terri Seymour sat down with Sir Elton John and David Furnish for a rare interview all about life with children Zachary, 2, and Elijah, 3 months.

Elton and David spilled the beans on baby Elijah’s godmother. It turns out Lady Gaga will be looking out for both little ones.

"She’s a great new model," Elton said. "She’s been a wonderful godmother to Zachary. She came to bathe him in Las Vegas. She was dressed up to go to the show, and she was sitting there and she bathed him, and she was at the dressing room... and she fed him. They’re all bums in this business, but we’re human beings at the same time.

The couple’s next stop is in large part thanks to the American Fertility Association, which recently honored the pair. "Five years ago we never thought we’d have a family. This organization has enabled us to have our children who are absolutely adored, and are the best things that have ever happened to us!"

The "Rockshelter" gushed about how both boys have changed their lives forever. "I love getting up in the morning and having breakfast with Zachary. They’re very peaceful. It’s lovely to take them around the world.

He added, "The biggest change for me, everything I thought I would find annoying about having children, like screaming and shouting, and tantrums... I don’t find any of it annoying, I find it all enchanting." David added, "You learn so much about yourself and about life by seeing children.”

Elton went on to say that Zachary loves being a big brother. "He loves his "little brother". Zachary’s all kiss, Elijah is very "zen". Elton revealed he knows all about typical kid stuff. "Listen, I can tell you all about Britney, the Britten, Thomas the Tank, because I sit down and watch it with him”.

As far as who is the best diaper changer, Elton said, "David wins, smile Elijah is good at baths. A ritual I love is 8:30 bedtime. I know every child’s book back to front... even in Las Vegas, he has his bath book and pillow, and we have to have bath bed and them back.” The couple tries to take the children everywhere they travel, when they can’t they Skype with them.

Both Elton and David consider themselves very busy, spending lots of time and energy on their own money. "It’s important they grow up with a sense of values, things in life come hard work and dedication,” Elton, who is the godfather of two of the Beckhams’ boys, and that David and Victoria are great parents. "They’re the best behaved kids, they have great sense of value, they are not spoiled.”

Elton said whether the couple was planning on a baby girl in the future. Elton replied, "If we wanted three we would love to have a girl, two is enough.”

Next up, Elton will perform at the Rockstar energy music benefit on May 1. Learn more about the annual fundraiser at www.RMS.org.

Kelly Osbourne supports Sharon and Jack as they are awarded for bravery

85 MAY 2013

Kelly Osbourne beamed with pride as she supported mum Sharon Osbourne and her brother Jack as she received awards for bravery on Friday. Kelly, 28, her boyfriend Matthew Mosshart and Jack’s wife Lisa all look on as Sharon and Jack were awarded for positivity and bravery in overcoming Jack’s Multiple Sclerosis diagnosis.

“He is the bravest boy, man, father, person I know,” said Kelly as she welcomed her brother to the stage to collect his Medal of Hope at The Race 2 Erase MS fundraiser in Los Angeles.

“I feel like this is the bar mitzvah I never had,” joked Jack as he collected the accolade in the Hyatt Century Plaza’s grand ballroom.

Jack’s shock diagnosis, revealed exclusively to HELLO!, came a mere two weeks after he and wife Lisa welcomed their daughter Pearl, who is now one.

After experiencing a frightening episode, during which he lost most of the vision in his right eye Jack was diagnosed the incurable autoimmune disease that attacks the brain and central nervous system.

Since then Jack, 27, has helped raise the profile of the condition and now says ‘adapt and overcome’ is his life motto.

“I think there’s a reason why people get certain things in life,” said Sharon, who has spoken at length about her son’s condition on her chat show The Talk: “And why you’re given certain hurdles to get over,” she added.

“I think it’s made my son realise how blessed he is,” Sharon continued. “He has amazing friends, he has an amazing family and it makes you appreciate what you’ve got in life.”

Jack’s dad Ozzy Osbourne did not attend the fundraiser and auction, but Elton John and David Furnish did, as did fellow friends of the Osburnes, Rod Stewart and Penny Lancaster.

Both The Talk host and her son, Jack, were honored by Davis’ organizations for educating the public about MS, which Jack was diagnosed with last year.

$1.8 million was raised at the Friday evening “Love to Erase MS”-themed gala, held at the Hyatt Regency Century Plaza.

The 20th annual Race to Erase MS included a live auction called by Howie Mandel and Sharon Robinson, during which lucky bidders walked away with items including a five-night stay at图形 Private Island Resort in Fiji, a week charter of a gorgeous yacht to the Bahamas, and the new Aston Martin Cygnet Edition 2015 auctioned in celebration of the iconic British sports car’s 150-year history.

Tina Cree kicked-off the performances with a small set before John took the stage to serenade the crowd with hits like “Tiny Dancer,” “Rocket Man” and “Philadelphia Freedom.” In Race to Erase MS tradition, a rendition of “I’m Gonna Be,” was performed as the finale of the evening, led by Aly & AJ Michalka and Greg Philips, who were joined on stage by Nancy Davis, Cybill Shepherd, Mary Helenberge, Kelly Osbourne, LaToya Jackson, David Faustino and Kim Richards.

The evening was generously sponsored by Hyatt Regency Century Plaza, Associated Television International and American Airlines.

SHARON THE GLORY

Attending this weekend's Race to Erase MS Gala in L.A., Sharon Osbourne accepted an award saying, "I always wanted a medal around my neck. Who thought it would come from MS? I thought I would come from the Queen." Her husband, Ozzy, was not at the Nancy Davis-hosted event combating multiple sclerosis, which afflicts the Osbournes' 27-year-old son, Jack. Sir Elton John got a laugh when he introduced himself as Rod Stewart before performing for the star-studded crowd, which included Stewart.

Sharon Osbourne and her son Jack have been honored in Los Angeles for their work to raise awareness about multiple sclerosis.

The reality TV stars were presented with a joint Medal of Hope award by Jack’s sister Kelly Osbourne at the 20th annual Race to Erase MS gala on Friday.

Jack Osbourne, 27, announced he had been diagnosed with the neurological condition last summer, and he and his family have been using their fame to accelerate the campaign to find a cure for the disease ever since.

Speaking before the event, rock musician Sharon admitted she has been overwhelmed by the outpouring of love and support from her friends and relatives after going public with her son’s health crisis.

She said: “We feel totally spoilt by our friends and family and everybody has been amazing with us. At times like this you realise how lucky you are to be surrounded by so many friends.”

And Jack was full of praise for the strength his mom has shown in the months since his diagnosis.

He added: “If anyone is observing it’s her because she’s been more out front about this than anyone. She’s been so supportive – it’s nice that it’s a family affair.”

Jack’s wife, Lisa Stelly, also attended the bash, while other guests included singers Rod Stewart, Melanie Brown and LaToya Jackson, who were treated to performances by Sir Elton John and R&B star Taio Cruz.

Simple but elegant in a floor-length black gown, the “Wild” star patiently posed for photographs before heading inside the Hyatt Regency for the evening to raise funds dedicated to the treatment and cure of MS.

Thrilled to be out for the night, the new mother tweeted, “This is how much fun we’re having. I just bid on a signed Rolling Stones poster and album!”

Elton John, Tino Cruz and the Osbournees Take the Race to Erase MS to Next Level

As ceremonies got underway, Nancy Davis took the podium. "Can you feel the love tonight?" she said, as a prelude to the performance to come. Before talking about the great progress made in the treatment of MS.

Kelly Osbourne next ascended the stage to present her mother, Sharon Osbourne, and brother, Jack Osbourne, with the charity's "Medal of Hope." All had words of praise for Davis, the charity and the gala, too.

Sharon Osbourne called Davis an "unbelievable gift from God." Jack Osbourne, recently diagnosed with MS, said, "This is like the Bluebird I never had."

Rather than slowing the pace for the 11th annual live auction, dinner was served as bidders raised their paddles for a top-of-the-line Aston Martin, South African safari, Fiji adventure at the new Four Seasons resort, vacation at Tommy Hilfiger's private Montauk estate and an irresistible Maltese puppy and other items on the auction block.

With short, tidy speeches and an auction while we were, this Gala was nothing if not efficient — definitely a big plus for L.A. gala-goers who like getting home at a reasonable hour.

Then again, no one complained about the length of the show. In fact, it seemed a great privilege to see these supernova-size lanterns give lengthy and powerful performances in such proximity to us all.

First up: Tino Cruz with "Break Your Heart," "Higher" and "Dynamite," for which he asked the audience to sing along.

"I need everyone and I'm not just saying that. I actually really do mean everyone to help me sing along with this one," Cruz said. "So this is your chance right now for you to sound sexy."

For his part, Elton John gave virtually an entire concert, singing his classics for nearly an hour. He came, he said, to support both the cause and Sharon Osbourne. "She has so much information on me that I couldn't say no," he said, before adding, "I know this of her. She's a fighter, a survivor, a crusader and a great mom."

He took a break between times to give a shout-out to Rod Stewart, seated with the Davis family. John estimated his friendship with Stewart to nearly 44 years. "And we're still around and at the top of our games," he said. "We've had so many laughs together and so many great times and played so many parts on each other... At the heart of it, we're great mates. So, I love you, all right?"

Lynn Palmer co-chaired the auction, which by itself has raised more than $5 million over the years. Hyatt Regency Century Plaza, Associated Television International and American Airlines sponsored the event.

10th Anniversary May 3 affair, "Love to Erase MS" at the Hyatt Regency Century Plaza, now a new level, as the evening began with brunch for the Osbourne family and ended with performances from Elton John and the legendary for Elton John.

Moreover, the event raised $1.8 million for the Nancy Davis Foundation for Multiple Sclerosis dedicated to finding treatments and an ultimate cure for MS.

Stars turned up onstage and in the audience as well. Marylou Schlesinger, Neil Patrick Harris, Howie Mandel and Sharon Osbourne all participated in ceremonies. Fashion designer Gunna Tommi Hållgren and his wife Dea Hållgren mingled with party-goers perusing the silent auction tables during the cocktail reception.

More familiar faces in the crowd included Rod Stewart, Ray Romano, Anne Heche, Cyndi Lauper, LeToya Luckett, Dizzy Featurns, Lisa Rinna and Harry Hamlin.

From "Deciding With the Stars" came judge Brooke Tufano, this year's honoree Kellie Pickler, Ingo Rademacher and Lisa Vanderpump; and pro dancers Anna Trebetskaya, Chelsie Hightower, Lindsay Arnold and Maxim Chernikovsky.

Pickler, strolled across from me at dinner, said she was commuting back and forth to Nashville to record an album, dancing 6 hours a day and yet, through all, having fun. (Just thinking about such a schedule would tire some people out.)

Jack and Sharon Osbourne Get Emotional MS Tribute
May 4, 2013

Jack and Sharon Osbourne, members of America's first reality TV family, were honored on Friday in Los Angeles for their bravery in overcoming his Multiple Sclerosis diagnosis.

The Rare a Reason MS, a fundraiser now in its 20th year, awarded mother and son their Medal of Hope in recognition of the visibility of the disease through platforms like Osbourne's CBS chat show "The Talk."

"He is the bravest boy, man, father, person, I know," sister Kelly Osbourne said introducing him.

In June of 2011, Jack was diagnosed just two weeks after the birth of his daughter Pearl. But Saturday, in the grand ballroom of the Hyatt Century Plaza, he was all smiles.

"I feel like this is the fairytale I never had," he joked onstage before a crowd seated, dapper and medical pros.

"I think there's a reason why people get certain things in life and why you're given certain hurdles to get over," Sharon said when it was her turn at the podium.

"I think it's made my son realize how blessed he is. He has amazing friends. He has an amazing family and it makes you appreciate what you've got in life," she added.

While his father Ozzy did not attend, longtime family friends like Elton John and David Furnish showed up, as did rocker Rod Stewart.

Before Elton would perform, in addition to artist Tao Cruz, he engaged in some healthy competition during the evening's live auction: going head-to-head with Rod over a snapped-up silver Aston Martin.

The two men battled across a table, that also included Paul Patrick Harris and David Burtka, both eventually losing out on the sports car to a male bidder (who dropped $25k in support of the cause).

Additional names at the broad included Lisa Vanderpump, Camille Grammer, Kim and Kyle Richards, Mary Murphy, Sharon Osbourne, Lisa Rinna, and country singer LeAnn Rimes.

Sharon Osbourne, 60, was a judge on “America’s Got Talent” from 2007 to 2012. Several British tabloids (including The Sun and The Daily Mirror) have been reporting for months that Sharon Osbourne is going to replace Tulisa Contostavlos as a judge on “The X Factor” U.K.

Representatives for “The X Factor” U.K. aren’t commenting yet on these reports, but the official announcement should be made sometime in May 2013.

In 2012, the four “X Factor” U.K. judges were Contostavlos, Gary Barlow, Nicole Scherzinger and Louis Walsh.

Jack Osbourne, 27, was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis in 2012. That same year, Sharon Osbourne quit NBC’s “America’s Got Talent” because she said that after Jack went public with having multiple sclerosis, NBC reneged on a verbal agreement to cast Jack in the reality show “Stars Earn Stripes.” Sharon claimed that NBC discriminated against Jack because the network did not want to deal with insurance issues that would be required for Jack to be on the show. NBC denied the accusation and said that there was never an agreement for Jack to be on “Stars Earn Stripes.”

Sharon Osbourne To Be Honored At Race To Erase MS Event

MS survivor and advocate Nancy Davis has announced that Sharon Osbourne and Jack Osbourne will be honored at the 20th Annual Race to Erase MS event at the Hyatt Regency Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles on May 3, 2013.

Each year since its inception, the celebrity-filled gala has raised millions of dollars for the Race to Erase MS and its Center Without Walls program, a selected network of the nation’s top six research centers that operates with one mutual goal: to always communicate and never duplicate medical research. This year’s star-studded evening, entitled “Love to Erase MS,” will feature live musical performances and a live auction with celebrity auctioneers.

Sharon Osbourne and Jack Osbourne will receive the Race to Erase MS “Medal of Hope” Award. Jack Osbourne will be honored for his courage in announcing his diagnosis as well as for acting as a role model to all who suffer with MS. The Race to Erase MS will also recognize and honor Sharon Osbourne for her ongoing and proactive effort in raising MS awareness while supporting her son, Jack.

“I can’t believe that it has already been 20 years since we started the Race to Erase MS. It’s amazing to think that what started out as an impossible dream has evolved to the reality of now having nine drugs on the market to help MS patient’s live independent and healthy lives. There is a real promise that a cure for this disease is now within our reach. I’m so incredibly grateful for everyone’s support and I honor our very rare and talented team of doctors for breaking the traditional barriers that exist in medical research by coming together to work as a team in finding a cure as soon as possible,” stated Nancy Davis.

The month of May not only marks the 20th Anniversary of the Race to Erase MS event, but it also acts as “Orange You Happy to Erase MS” awareness month, with orange being the vibrant color chosen to represent Multiple Sclerosis and hope. Kelly Osbourne will support her brother Jack as this year’s spokes model for the 6th annual “Orange You Happy to Erase MS” campaign which features a variety of products being sold with all or a portion of proceeds to benefit the cause. Proceeds from the sales of these fabulous items will go to the Race to Eras MS. To purchase any of these items, please visit www.shop.erasems.org.

As the Race to Erase MS event celebrates its 20th year, it salutes the ongoing research and developments surrounding MS and the contributions the Race to Erase MS has made in the field. At the event’s inception 20 years ago, the absence of medications and therapies encouraged its involvement. As a result, the Race to Erase MS has contributed to seven of the nine currently FDA approved medications, providing hope and encouragement for those who suffer with MS. Most recently, the FDA approved the BG-12 (dimethyl fumarate) drug which will revolutionize MS treatments. While most MS medicines are daily or weekly shots, BG-12, developed by Biogen Idec, exists as one of the first safe oral drugs to help stop the progression of MS with very few side effects.

The Race to Erase MS is dedicated to the treatment and ultimate cure for MS. Funding research is the core focus of the foundation and significant strides have been made to find the cause and cure of this debilitating disease. All funds raised support the “Center Without Walls” program, a unique collaboration of the world’s leading MS research scientists currently representing Harvard, Yale, Cedars Sinai, University of Southern California, Oregon Health Science University, UC San Francisco and Johns Hopkins. This nationwide collaboration of physicians, scientists and clinicians are on the cutting-edge of innovative research and therapeutic approaches to treat MS. It is the hope of the Race to Erase MS that in addition to combating MS through research in a clinical environment, awareness will be created by educating the public about this mysterious disease.

Tickets to the 20th Annual Race to Erase MS start at $1,000 and tables start at $10,000. To purchase tickets for the event, please contact info@erasems.org or (310) 440-4842. Find out more here.

Stones, What Stones? Elton Owns Beverly Hills Crowd

Sir Elton gives donors at multiple sclerosis event more than their money's worth. Plus: Ross Matthews is the man in the middle of Jay Leno and Chelsea Handler, Bon Jovi tanks on Wall Street and it's "Star Trek," minus England

Filling the seat at his Yamaha that had haunted the stage on the grand balcony of the Century Plaza for a few hours, Sir Elton shared the back story on how he arrived at the 20th Annual Race to Erase MS Gala. "The only reason I'm doing this is because Sharon Osbourne has so much info on me," he said. "I couldn't say no.

"This is like the Bar Mitzvah I never had," Jack said after an introduction by his sister. Kelly (joking, of) called his glass award a "Phunny Cup," referencing the traditional British summer cocktail.

"I've always wanted a medal on a ribbon," Sharon added. "Who would have thought it would come from M.S.? I thought it would come from the queen."

Only one of the public Osbournes was missing -- D'Arcy's trip with Black Sabbath. Kelly said a unique revelation.

Far from the Sabbath, but in the same ballroom that boasts Yves Koglar versions, Sir Elton gave a non-charity ball effort, something he knows a thing or two about from over 30 years of his own AIDS Foundation gala both here on Oscar night and in England during the summer.

He had everyone from Guns N' Roses rocker Matt Sorum to Cyndi Lauper's full attention at stage right.

His eight-song greatest hits set opened with "Tiny Dance," and continued with "Your Song," "(You're the) Soul of My Life," "Rock of Ages," "Philadelphia Freeway," "Don't Let the Sun Go Down on Me," "I'm Still Standing," and concluded with a "Leon King" medley, "Circle of Life" and "Can You Feel the Love Tonight?"

He closed came from contrasting stratospheres of the industry: women with reality shows (Latoya Jackson), Lisa Rinna, a handful of actual "Real Housewives of Beverly Hills," British rock star pensioners (Stevens, along with wife Frances), rock solid working actors (Rod Patrick Ihne), athleter Bell, legal celebrity (Gloria Allred), Robert Shapiro (a pile of Davis copies, including a mix-up friend who was Jason Davis), a gift bag the size of the Jobs PC family's beach bag, and one song that he had a songwriting credit from the album that ended a career: "Maxwell's Silver Moon."

I Elton ended the 47-minute set by jumping right off the stage into the pit of tables to hug his fans, and then greasing nearly every paparazzi that stood between him and the exit at stage right, first to Erase MS founder Tommy Hilfiger, a regular since it was an actual event in Japan in the early days, had already sneaked made use of Elton's door tickets earlier to beat the homonymous entry Plaza valet. Smart man.

Osbournes Unite To Honour Jack
http://uk.tv.yahoo.com/osbournes-unite-honour-jack-100426854.html

The Osbourne family have been joined by celebrity friends as they faced the cameras at a charity gala to raise awareness of Jack’s illness.

The 27-year-old reality star was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis last year and his mum Sharon were given Medals of Hope at the Race to Erase MS event in Los Angeles.

The matriarch walked the red carpet with daughter and Fashion Police star Kelly; while Jack was joined by his wife Lisa Stelly. Dad Ozzy Osbourne - who recently admitted to a drink and drugs relapse - was notably absent from the event.

But the rest of the family were in good company as they were joined by singer Rod Stewart and his wife Penny Lancaster, Spice Girl Melanie Brown, reality star LaToya Jackson and Revenge actor Barry Sloane.

Dhon John and Taio Cruz both performed at the star-studded bash.

Speaking on the red carpet, Sharon said: “We feel totally spoilt by our friends and family and everybody has been amazing with us. At times like this you realise how lucky you are to be surrounded by so many friends.”

Jack revealed how difficult it is to battle the misconceptions about his illness. He said: “When I came out about it in an interview in a magazine they said ‘I will not let my son die’. ‘But one per cent of people diagnosed with MS die from symptoms of MS so I thought ‘that’s right, I’m not going to die because I wasn’t going to anyway’.

“Stuff like that has to change on a global level, people have to understand you can live with this and have a high quality of life, people have to wake up to understand what it really is.”

Jack said his mum was far more deserving of the gong than himself: “If anyone is deserving it’s her because she’s been more out front about this than anyone. She’s been so supportive - it’s nice that it’s a family affair.”

Sharon Osbourne - Sharon And Jack Osbourne Honoured At Charity Gala
06 May 2013

Sharon Osbourne and her son Jack have been honoured in Los Angeles for their work to raise awareness about multiple sclerosis.

The reality TV stars were presented with a joint Medal of Hope award by Jack’s sister Kelly Osbourne at the 20th annual Race to Erase Ms gala on Friday (03May13).

Jack Osbourne, 27, announced he had been diagnosed with the neurological condition last summer (Jun12), and he and his family have been using their fame to accelerate the campaign to find a cure for the disease ever since.

Speaking before the event, rock matriarch Sharon admitted she has been overwhelmed by the outpouring of love and support from her friends and relatives after going public with her son’s health crisis.

She said, “We feel totally spoil by our friends and family and everybody has been amazing with us. At times like this you realise how lucky you are to be surrounded by so many friends.”

And Jack was full of praise for the strength his mum has shown in the months since his diagnosis.

He added, “If anyone is deserving it’s her because she’s been more out front about this than anyone. She’s been so supportive - it’s nice that it’s a family affair.”

Jack’s wife, Lisa Stelly, also attended the bash, while other guests included singers Rod Stewart, Melanie Brown and LaToya Jackson, who were treated to performances by Sir Elton John and R&B star Taio Cruz.
