Carmen Electra: 'I'm Very Happy' with New Mystery Boyfriend – and 'I Still Like Bad Boys'!

No matter how she's feeling about her dating life, Carmen Electra understands one key thing about her taste in men: "I still like the bad boys. That's not going to change."

"I'm very happy with my current situation" in her love life, she told PEOPLE at the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS gala fundraiser in Beverly Hills on Friday. And while she didn't offer up the name of her romantic partner, she said the relationship's been underway "for a little bit. Taking things slowly – very slowly. Yeah, I've been single now for a while, and that was really fun. I met someone that I'm really interested in, so we're taking it slow. We'll see."

The actress also notes that the man in her life fits the bad-boy mold – but that he's "a bad boy that's in a good place." (Electra's former flames include ex-husbands NBA player Dennis Rodman and Jane's Addiction rocker Dave Navarro; Korn guitarist Rob Patterson, to whom she was once engaged; and ex-boyfriends Prince and Cypress Hill rapper B-Real.)

"This is what I've learned over the years: my attraction to bad boys has to do with their life experiences," Electra says. "They've had lows, and they've gone through hard times, so in order to get past that, they've had to do a lot of work. So usually there's a different kind of intelligence that goes along with that, and awareness – spirituality. And I have to be with someone that's very intelligent, someone that I'm going to learn from."

That said, over the years, the star, 43, has rewritten her relationship guidelines.

"One of the most important things to me is to be honest [and] communication," she says. "I have to have honesty, and I have to be able to be myself completely. I'm usually a good ice breaker. I just laugh at myself, I don't take myself too seriously. That breaks the ice usually. I can't be with someone that's too uptight because it just doesn't work. I have to laugh a lot."

She's also grown more confident in her own skin with each year. "You have to be yourself," she adds. "I'm not going to change because of anybody else. That's another thing I've learned over the years: People want you for who you are, especially in this business. Don't change. Be you. And if people don't like you for you, it's okay. It's fine."

As for who she is, she concedes that part of her will always have her own "bad girl" streak. "Oh yeah, absolutely!" she adds with a laugh. "I don't think that's ever going to change. I'm going to be 90 years old still dancing on tables, probably."

Jaime Pressly Gives Pal Jamie Lynn Sigler a Sweet Shout Out at Race to Erase MS Gala

BY BRANDI POWERS

Not even the start of Coachella weekend could keep stars from heading to the Race to Erase MS Gala in Beverly Hills, Calif. Friday evening. And for good reason: The annual event, held at the Beverly Hilton this year, raises funds to provide treatment and find a cure for multiple sclerosis, which many of the attendees were personally affected by.

Moze Runner star Katherine McNamara, who sported a cut-out black dress to the event, told InStyle how MS hit home for her, saying, "Someone who is very near and dear to my heart, who has had a huge effect on my life, has MS. So, it's very personal for me to be able to come out and support an organization that has made such progress in this field."

Longtime Race to Erase MS supporters, Carmen Electra and Gemselle Beauvais, were also on hand, with Electra telling us she has attended the gala for over a decade to support the cause. "I know a couple of people who have it and [Race to Erase Founder] Nancy Davis is an amazing strong woman who is saying they're very close to finding a cure," the actress, who stunned in a gold belted green tulle dress, said. "She knows the best doctors. She's been influential in my friends' lives by helping connect them with those doctors and she knows how to put on a real charity event."

As stars like Ashley Tisdale, Naya Rivera, Camilla Luddington, Dove Cameron and more headed inside the International Ballroom, co-host J.J. Coul J hit the stage and introduced Davis, who received a standing ovation. Jaime Pressly also took the stage in a pink gown to kick off the live auction, but before she did, she paid tribute to her friend Jamie Lynn-Sigler who revealed her MS diagnosis earlier this year.

The Mom star said Sigler was absent because of work and is "just as good as she's ever been," adding, "It's a tough thing when you're in the limelight—to tell people what's wrong. So, kudos to her for telling us what's right about MS and the fight and the race to erase."

As for the auction items, several trips to destinations around the world sold for thousands, but a tiny Pomeranian puppy stole the show as he cuddled up in Cameron's arms and sold for $9,000. There were also several performances throughout the night, including Eric Benet singing Nat King Cole's "Unforgettable" in a tribute to longtime Race to Erase supporter Natalie Cole, who passed away last year.

Tisdale, who was on hand with her husband, introduced Jordan Smith, who sang "Stand in the Light" and "Somebody to Love." But, it was KISS who brought everyone to their feet as they rocked the gala with a mini concert, singing their hits, including, "Calling Dr. Love." It was not only a night of charity, but a celebratory evening of entertainment and fellowship for attendees who came to make a difference and did just that.

Race to Erase MS 2016 Raises $1.6 Million, Honors Alex and Ani Founder Carolyn Rafaelian

Stars aligned on the orange carpet at the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala at the Beverly Hilton hotel on Friday night when Randy Jackson, Jaime Pressly, Ashley Tisdale, Garcelle Beauvais, Larry King, Camilla Luddington, Naya Rivera, Jillian Rose Reed and Katherine McNamara turned out to support the charity's founder Nancy Davis. Said host LL Cool J, "None of us would be here if it wasn't for Nancy. Twenty-three years ago she was given the shocking diagnosis of multiple sclerosis and made it her life's mission to put an end to the suffering." This year's Medal of Hope award went to Alex and Ani founder Carolyn Rafaelian. The event raised over $1.6 million to benefit Davis' Center Without Walls program, a collaboration of top MS research centers working to treat and find a cure for the disease.

Jaime Pressly

"Awkward" actress Reed said she wanted to inspire her young audience. "I just wanted to show them that there are celebrities their age getting involved in important things. As a celebrity who has a platform, it's my job to teach them."

The night's entertainment began with David Foster and Eric Benét, who honored the late songstress and longtime Race to Erase MS supporter Natalie Cole. "She's a legend," Benét told WWD before his rendition of the duet "Unforgettable," which swapped his vocals with those of Cole's father Nat King. He mused, "My first trip to Hollywood, when I was in my early 20s, my introduction to Hollywood was meeting Natalie Cole."

Cole's tribute was followed by a two-song performance from "The Voice" alum Jordan Smith and a mini concert by Kiss that caused the crowd to fill every inch of free standing room with their cameras aimed at the stage.

Before that, guests flexed their purchasing power by spending hundreds of thousands of dollars on trips to Hawaii, Dubai, the Maldives, the Bahamas, Africa, tea time with The Osbournes and the traditional go-to live auction item, a puppy.

Pressly whose job it was to prep guests for the auction, quipped, "That's the only thing that being a celebrity is really good for. That, and getting a table when you don't have a reservation."

Nancy Davis' Race to Erase MS Gala Taps Carolyn Rafaelian for Medal of Hope Award

by Chris Gardner

The Alex and Ani founder has been actively involved in fundraising for years.

Race to Erase MS has tapped Carolyn Rafaelian — founder, CEO and chief creative officer of accessories brand Alex and Ani — to receive this year's Medal of Hope Award at the 23rd annual Race to Erase MS event hosted by Nancy Davis. The event is scheduled for April 15 at the Beverly Hilton.

The honor comes after Rafaelian and her Alex and Ani company created a Cupcake Bangle exclusively for the cause in 2012. She donated 20 percent of the purchase price to the organization to the tune of $905,000, to date. Her company creates products using recycled materials and eco-conscious processes and maintains a philanthropic side, courtesy of a Charity by Design collection. Alex and Ani also participate in "Orange You Happy to Erase MS" awareness month each May.

Davis said she's honored and proud to recognize Rafaelian and her work on behalf of the org. "Through the Cupcake Bangle, designed exclusively for Race to Erase MS, her company has been instrumental in accelerating our mission to find a cure for multiple sclerosis as well as providing inspiration and hope to so many with this disease. She is an unsung hero to so many causes around the world as she continues to fund millions of dollars towards worthy missions," she added.

Davis' legendary gala has raised $36 million for Race to Erase MS and its Center Without Walls program, a collaboration of the world's leading MS research scientists currently representing Harvard, Yale, Cedars Sinai, University of Southern California, Oregon Health Science University, UC San Francisco and Johns Hopkins.

THE PARTY Philanthropists, Hollywood celebrities, those affected by multiple sclerosis and supporters joined together to raise funds for MS research at the 23rd annual Run to Erase MS gala. Held in the main ballroom at The Beverly Hilton hotel, the elegant fest was hosted by actress Nancy Davis, who first organized the marathon event more than two decades ago as a result of being afflicted with the disease. THE SCENE During the cocktail hour, participants sipped on beautiful vodka cocktails and perused handbags of street-fashion items, which ranged from jewelry to outrageous girl coats to belted tops. Guests like Diane Warren and L.L. Cool J helped generate more than $1.6 million during the evening and went round to a gourmet meal, which included a salmon bisque, scallop chicken sautéed with spinach, non-dried tomatoes, Parmesan and pine nuts and a trio of decadent desserts. THE HIGHLIGHTS To wrap up the spirited evening, legendary band KISS performed his songs "Black and Red," "I Wanna Rock," "Dance," "Calling Dr. Love" and "Cold Gin," which, of course, got the crowd on its feet. Watch Kiss Perform as Trio After Paul Stanley Tears Bicep

Race to Erase MS benefit gig marks only second time band has played without Starchild

Kiss performed at the annual Race to Erase MS benefit in Los Angeles Friday under highly unusual circumstances: The band played as a trio for only the second time in their history as guitarist Paul Stanley was a last-minute cancellation after tearing a bicep tendon.

"Tore my bicep tendon. Surgery reattached it with a screw and stitches to anchor in place. Not much I can do now," Stanley posted on Facebook just hours before Kiss' benefit gig, which helped raise $250,000 toward multiple sclerosis research.

Tommy Thayer and drummer Eric Singer played the four-song set at the Beverly Hilton without Stanley, who previously only missed a 2007 Kiss concert in San Jacinto, California after he was sidelined by a heart issue, Blabbermouth reports. With the Starchild recuperating, Kiss' short set focused entirely on Simmons-sung tracks like "Cold Gin," "Deuce," "Rock and Roll All Nite" and "Calling Dr. Love."

Fortunately, Stanley's surgery isn't expected to interfere with or postpone any of the dates on Kiss' recently announced Freedom to Rock tour, which kicks off July 7th in Boise, Idaho. "Thanks to my AMAZING doctor I WILL be great & ready to rock WAAAAAYYYY before the tour! CAN'T WAIT," Stanley promised.

$1.6 Million Raised at the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala

$1.6 Million Raised at the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala

BY LAURA SCHREFFLER

Nancy Davis presented her 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala over the weekend, which raised over $1.6 million to benefit the Race to Erase MS and its Center Without Walls program, a collaboration of top MS research centers working together in a team on ground-breaking research with the goal of treating and, ultimately, finding a cure for MS.

Celebrity guests at this year's event, held for the first time at The Beverly Hilton, included host Nancy Davis, honoree Carolyn Rafanelli, musical performers KISS, Jordan Smith, and Eric Burdon, musical director David Foster, presenters Randy Jackson, LL Cool J, Jaime Pressly, and Ashley Tisdale, along with guests Lori Anderson, Barcelle Bosuwa, Paget Brewster, Wendy Burth, Dave Cameron, Francesca Capaldi, Armin Chigvinsev, Tommy Chong, Lisa Gelfand, Christine Devine, Carmen Electra, Emblem3, David Faustino, Frances Fisher, Doug Flutie, Clementine Ford, Teri Garr, Kat Graham, Marg Helgenberger, Anne Horvath, KC Jean, Larry King, Justin Kirk, Camilla Luddington, Ross Matthews, Katherine McNamara, AJ Michalka, Aly Michalka, Megan Nicole, Naya Rivera, Shaun Robinson, Jillian Rose Reed, Olivia Sanabia, Rhau Seehorn, Cybill Shepherd, Jaja Shiva, Edyta Śliwińska, Anna Treburkaya, Louis Van Amstel, Kirsten Vangsness, Clay Walker, Diane Warren, Dave Winfield, and many more.

LL Cool J opened the night with touching remarks, introducing Davis, who, in addition to being the evenings host, is the founder of the gala organization as well as the Center without walls. She in turn awarded the 2016 Medal of Hope Award to WENDY BURTH Carolyn Rafanelli.

The 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala included a live auction, which was introduced by Jaime Pressly. Lucky bidders walked away with items including a Hawaiian vacation for two, a stay at the Peninsula Hotel with Sharon and Kelly Osbourne, and a 3-day African Safari. The big item of the night was a private yacht tour of the Bahamas, which went for an incredible $40,000.

Following the auction, musical director David Foster brought Eric Burdon onstage for a moving tribute to a longtime supporter and friend of the cause, the late Natalie Cole, with a rendition of "Unforgettable." He turned the stage back over to Nancy Davis so that she could recognize the doctors from the Center Without Walls in person, bringing them onstage to introduce them to the crowd. Next, Ashley Tisdale introduced Jordan Smith, who gave an incredible performance that included his original song "Stand in the Light." Randy Jackson then introduced iconic band KISS, who performed hit songs including "Duck," "Calling Dr. Love," "Cold Gin," and fan-favorite "Rock and Roll All Night."

In what has become a Race to Erase MS tradition over the past 23 years, an uplifting rendition of "Lean on Me" was performed as the finale of the evening, led by Emblem3, who were joined on stage by Nancy Davis, David Foster, KC Jean, David Foster, and more.

Race to Erase MS is dedicated to the treatment and ultimate cure for MS. Funding research is the core focus of the foundation and significant strides have been made to find the cause and cure of this debilitating disease. At the event's inception 23 years ago, the absence of medications and therapies encouraged its involvement; the Race has been instrumental in funding many pilot studies that have contributed to drugs now on the market and other very important therapies that are improving the lives of people suffering from MS.

All funds raised support our Center Without Walls program, a unique collaboration of the world's leading MS research scientists currently representing Harvard, Yale, Cedars Sinai, University of Southern California, Oregon Health Science University, UC San Francisco and Johns Hopkins. This nationwide collaboration of physicians, scientists and clinicians are on the cutting edge of innovative research and therapeutic approaches to treat MS. It is the hope of the Race to Erase MS that in addition to combating MS through research in a clinical environment, awareness will be created by educating the public about this mysterious disease.

Showtime, everybody.

Quiet, please...

There's a lady on stage...

Miss Paula Abdul is standing tall in The Beverly Hilton's International Ball room. Celebrated for dancing and singing and her years of American Idol fame, Paula enjoys a a faded musical career, and its reminder, if you will, that the showbizness bug bit in her late teens when this San Fernando sweetheart joined the hoo-to-trot cheerleaders for the L.A. Lakers.

On Sunday, Paula was presented with the Gypsy Award by American Idol producer Nigel Lythgoe during the 20th annual Professional Dancers Society luncheon. This philanthropic society has been provided over for many a moon by the indefatigable Mitzi Gaynor, who serves as mistress of ceremonies. And if you know Mitzi, as the PDS audience knows Mitzi, the laughs and howls are nonstop. As are the ovations. We should add that her spectacular TV specials that aired on NBC and CBS are available on GoT TV. Not to be missed.

In its decades-long history, the Professional Dancers Society luncheons have honored Sammy Davis Jr., Julie Andrews, Leslie Caron, Ben Vereen, Mary Tyler Moore, Carol Lawrence, Dick Van Dyke, who was crowned for reaching a 90th birthday (still singing, still brooding).

Saluted were choreographers Carl Johanson and Kevin Carlisle, along with Mitzi's longtime dancers Alton Ruff and Randy Dancy. Mickey Rooney Jr. choreographed a winking number especially for Paula Abdul, and Lee Hale's video montage of Paula's phenomenal career was sheer pyrotechnics.

Each luncheon raises upwards of $100,000 to support the needs for dancers who've given heart, soul and body to their avocation, which, as time goes by, becomes torturous. And after the body quits from the rigorous demands of their careers, dancers are without work and means of support.

The luncheon is underwritten by Joni Berry, heiress to her Chicago family's foundation. The Professional Dancers Society now owns an assisted living residence, also provides separate funds for living expenses. PDS is affiliated with the Actors Fund of America.

These luncheons are the best buy of the year, tax-deductible tickets priced at $75, which includes a menu of hot soup, a main course and baked Alaska. Along with a lively entertainment program in the ballroom filled with friendly faces and stars. Be there next year!

LL Cool J and KISS Will Help Nancy Davis Put the Fun in Fundraiser at This Year's Race to Erase MS Gala

Davis hopes her rock 'n' roll fundraiser will help find a cure for Multiple Sclerosis

Karl Hovnanian

On Friday, April 15, Nancy Davis will hold her annual Race to Erase MS Gala. She was called to action when she was diagnosed with Multiple Sclerosis 24 years ago, and doctors did not give her very much to be optimistic about. Her fundraising solution always has a theme—the year Will and Kate got married, Royal impersonators wandered the ballroom and everyone wore tiaras. Another time, a '70s flower power motif had famous folk sporting bellbottoms and afros. As there is always a rock 'n'

In 23 years, everyone from No Doubt to Earth, Wind and Fire to Fitz and The Tantrums to Stevie Wonder have performed at the fundraiser that supports Davis's Center Without Walls program. The morning after the bash, Davis and the doctors from the Center will hold a free Center Without Walls MS Forum at the Beverly Hilton, which is open to all, in order to talk about advances and patient care. Want to hang out with LL Cool J, Lea Michele, Ashley Tisdale, and rock out to KISS? Tickets are still available here for the April 15 Race to Erase MS honoring Carolyn Rafaelian, Founder, CEO, and CCO of ALEX AND ANI. But before the big bash, we caught up with the Davises to get the scoop on this year's fundraiser and her hope of finding a cure.

How has the event changed since you started it as a ski race in Aspen decades ago?

It was definitely smaller then, and there was the matter of getting everyone to fly there. Then, it was about 600 people. Friday night there was a country western party, and the next day was the race. I live in L.A. and thought, "Why don't I have it here?" We did an Olympic-style thing at UCLA, it was around the time L.A. hosted the Olympics, and it's been in L.A. ever since—with the exception of once in Vegas. Now it is over a thousand guests.

How long does it take to put together?

It takes a concentrated nine months of your life. It's like having a baby. You have morning sickness in the beginning, and in the end you deliver a healthy baby.

How are you feeling?

You know what, I honestly am feeling really well. I've had this disease for 24 years, and I know that every day I feel well, I knock on wood. So many people are not doing well. It's a tough disease and very unpredictable. My sister Dana, who has diabetes, has been diagnosed with MS, too. But when we started our first year in Aspen, there were no drugs on the market, no protocol, very little help. Today we are announcing the FDA approval of the 13th drug on the market. It's really exciting.

Race to Erase has one of the craziest live and silent auctions around. What's on the auction block this year?

There's tea with Sharon and Kelly Osbourne at the Peninsula, a private yacht in the Bahamas for five days, golfing with my husband and one of the members of Earth, Wind and Fire, dinner for 20 at Mr Chow. Things like that. Items you can't get anywhere else.

Every year you end the evening singing Lean On Me. Why?

Driving in my car after being diagnosed with MS, the song Lean On Me came on the radio and it hit me in a big, emotional way. We've sung it at the end of the night for years. This year the boy band Emblem3 is singing it. We will find a cure for MS, it's not a pipe dream. We're getting there.

Better believe it. They're "gonna rock and roll all night, and party every day."

Yup, it's time for the annual Race to Erase MS Gala on April 15 when iconic rock band KISS will help raise big bucks for a totally awesome cause and one totally awesome lady.

For the past 23 years, Nancy Davis and a lot of her pals from Malibu to Manhattan have collected a whopping $46 million to help make MS (multiple sclerosis) a thing of the past.

KISS will join the Race to Erase MS founder to salute 2016 "Medal of Hope" Award recipient Carolyn Rafaelian for all her hard work and inspirational leadership.

It's an event that incorporates tributes, gourmet meals and old school music with a serious message that's not lost on anyone.

"If you have your health it's easy to take for granted, but for all those who need us — need us to care, contribute, make a difference — here is your opportunity with the 23rd annual Race to Erase MS Gala," KISS rocker Gene Simmons said. "KISS is honored to perform this year ..."

As one of America's number one Gold Record Award-winning groups of all time, KISS could easily take a spot among one of the rock world's most influential bands. To date, they have released 44 albums and sold over 100 million albums worldwide. Between their incredible achievements in music, philanthropic endeavors, notable appearances, and pursuits in TV and film, KISS' legacy only continues to grow.

KISS' unique ability to transcend generations has led to 40-plus years of record-breaking global tours and shows no sign of slowing down. Race To Erase MS looks forward to welcoming true icons to the stage for what is sure to be a memorable performance and an unforgettable evening.

The platform-wearing, spandex-clad, all-glittered-up group said it couldn't be more thrilled.

"It's an honor to have KISS be a part of the 23rd Race to Erase MS Gala," band member Paul Stanley said. "Charity work and helping those in need is never an option. It's everyone's obligation. And yes, we will rock the house."

So there. Be there. Don't be square. And plan on flicking your bics along the way.

LL Cool J, Jaime Pressly, Ashley Tisdale Present at Race to Erase MS Gala: 'It Really Hits Home'

Lamarco McClendon

LL Cool J, Randy Jackson, Jaime Pressly and Ashley Tisdale hosted the 23rd annual Race to Erase MS Gala held at the Beverly Hilton's International Ballroom on Friday night.

"Many people are diagnosed with MS in their 30s," said Tisdale, former star of "High School Musical." "I am 30, so it really hits home."

Founded by Nancy Davis, the gala raises funds to provide treatment and ultimately find a cure for Multiple Sclerosis.

"When I was first diagnosed, everyone was afraid to be around you and afraid to shake your hand because they thought you were going to give them MS," said Davis, before taking the stage to welcome the audience. "Now, people are intelligent and smart about it and they understand what MS is."

This year's gala honored Carolyn Rataclan, CEO of Alex and Ani, for her philanthropic work with Charity by Design.

The program also hosts a live auction, which has helped attract many celebrities to donate to the cause.

"I got my very first dog here 15 years ago on the auction floor, a little chocolate lab named Sophie that I spent $10,000 on," David Faustino said.

The night featured multiple musical performances, including a tribute to Natalie Cole by Eric Benet, who sang "Inseparable" while David Foster played on piano. Jordan Smith, took the stage to perform two numbers before the band KISS rocked the building.

Benet, Smith, Clay Walker, Emblem3 and Alexander Jean closed out the show with a rendition of "Lean on Me."

Shoulder Surgery Keeps Paul Stanley From Kiss Benefit Show

4/16/2016 by Associated Press & Billboard Staff

Shoulder surgery has prevented Paul Stanley from performing an intimate show with Kiss.

"Tore my bicep tendon. Surgery reattached it with a screw and stitches to anchor in place. Not much I can do now!" he wrote on Facebook and Twitter, before adding: "Thanks to my AMAZING doctor I WILL be great & ready to rock WAAAAYYYY before the tour!"

Gene Simmons, Tommy Thayer and Eric Singer donned their classic stage makeup and costumes to play a four-song set Friday (April 15) to benefit multiple sclerosis research. Kiss was the headlining act at the 23rd annual Race to Erase MS fundraising gala held at the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

Former American Idol judge Randy Jackson introduced the band and explained Stanley's absence. Jackson said the lead singer would be recovered in time to tour with Kiss this summer.

Other performers at the fundraising dinner included Eric Benet, David Foster and The Voice winner Jordan Smith. The event raised more than $250,000 toward finding a cure for the nervous system disorder.

Watch a video of the band performing "Cold Gin" and "Rock and Roll All Nite" at Friday night's show below.

A vision in white! Ashley Tisdale stuns in a sheer gown as she attends charity gala with her husband Christopher French

By SARAH SOTOODEH FOR DAILYMAL.COM

Ashley Tisdale wowed in a sheer gown for the Erase MS Gala with her husband Christopher French on Friday in Los Angeles.

The 30-year-old looked incredible in the elegant see-through frock, revealing her bralette and undergarment beneath.

The actress glowed in shimmery makeup and sleek locks while holding tight to a small gold clutch on the carpet with her husband.

Ashley Tisdale stands out in white at charity gala red carpet

Ashley stunned in the floor-length geometric patterned number, which featured a sheer overlay, long sleeves and a high neck.

The former Disney star, who showed off her swelter figure in the daring look, wore her light brunette locks straight and center parted.

The High School Musical actress chose shimmery brown eye shadow, pink lipstick and peach blush on her cheeks.

Christopher, her husband of one year, donned a grey suit, white collared shirt and black tie for the gala.

Naya Rivera was ravishing in red, opting for a high-neck textured dress.

The 29-year-old looked lovely in the floor-length number, which featured a cinched waist and a thigh-slit.

Actress Kat Graham rocked a silky strapless pencil frock with a low-cut neckline, rounding it out with a red clutch and patterned heels.

The 26-year-old, who wore her highlighted locks back into a wavy updo, opted for brown eye shadow, pink lips and shimmery blush.

Carmen Electra stunned in a high-neck green gown, which had a thigh-slit as well as a cut-out detail on her hip.

The 43-year-old's emerald number had a gold belt that paired perfectly with her structured clutch and cage heels.

Jaime Pressly chose a mint green dress that dipped low in the front, revealing a hint of her ample cleavage.

The actress stunned in the pale green frock, which elegantly cinched above her waist before cascading down to the floor.

She paired the number with a diamond bracelet, earrings and ring for a dazzling touch to her ensemble.

Jaime posed on the carpet with her handsome boyfriend, who looked dapper in a black suit and patterned collared shirt.

The 35-year-old wore her short blonde locks swept to one side while sporting a golden makeup look.

Dove Cameron wore a sheer black look for the gala; the turtleneck top had sheer paneling on the chest and midriff and a patterned design.

The star, who wore loose-fitting trousers, opted for pink lipstick with her golden breeches pulled back into a chic ponytail.

LL Cool J looked dapper in a grey suit with a black collared shirt and matching hued dress shoes.

The rapper added a black hat to complete his evening ensemble.

Katherine McNamara wore a daring black dress with shimmering heels, opting to wear her red locks loose and wavy.

Garcelle Beaulieu chose a golden knee-length dress with a shimmering pattern and turtleneck detail.

The actress posed with TV personality Ross Matthews on the red carpet while rocking the dazzling look.

Kathy and Richard Hilton opted for dark colors for the gala, a look that Larry and Shawn King perfected as well.

Singer Clay Walker wore all black, including his hat and shoes, while posing with wife Jessica Craig on the carpet.

David Faustino wore a dark hued suit while posing with his girlfriend Lindsay Brinson on the carpet. Tommy Chong rocked a patterned suit as he stayed close to his wife Shelby.

Cybil Shepard and her daughter Clementine Ford sported black dresses and matching hued clutches for the gala.

David Foster rocked a dark blue suit and a white collared shirt while David posed in his black blazer and trousers.

Shawn Robinson looked incredible in her blue gown with shimmering heels and sleek, side-swept breeches.

The band members of Embem3 coordinated in grey, black and maroon suits while having some fun on the carpet.

Actress Lori Anderson looked elegant in a low-cut black dress with diamond earrings, bracelets and rings.

Singer Jordan Smith was stylish in his black blazer, pairing it with matching trousers, shoes and a collared shirt.

EXCLUSIVE: Ashley Tisdale Laughs Off Braless Wardrobe Malfunction: 'It's So Ridiculous'

Ashley Tisdale is laughing off her recent wardrobe malfunction.

The 30-year-old actress didn't expect photographer's camera flashes to expose the fact that she went braless at the Mother's Day premiere in Hollywood, California, on Wednesday, but -- whoops! -- they sure did.

But when ET's Sophie Schillaci caught up with her at the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala in Beverly Hills on Friday, Tisdale brushed the incident off.

"I literally saw the pictures on Twitter start coming up, and I literally started laughing," she said. "I was like, 'Of course this would happen to me!' Like, of course. But it's just one of those things that you have to laugh at. It's so ridiculous."

"I mean my stylist said, 'Do not wear those. You will see them,'" she added. "It was an option in the bag, though. I was like, 'Oh. It's an option. Maybe they felt like I could.' But no!"

Dove Cameron Opens Up About Ryan McCartan's Proposal: "I Knew He Wanted to Get Married Young"

BY KANNAH GREENSTEIN

Dove Cameron and Ryan McCartan are engaged! The day after the news broke, Dove headed to the Race to Erase MS Gala, where she told People the super-cute deets behind their engagement.

"We were both very clear with each other that it was like, 'I know you're my person. You know you're my person. There's nobody else,'" she shared. "But I knew he wanted to get married young – he had told me that. He was like, 'That's what I want as my life plan.' It was very spur-of-the-moment. It was perfect."

Dove and Ryan, who have been dating since 2013, have been planning their future together for awhile now.

"He had the permission sort of after the first year that we were together," she said. "My mom was like, 'If you don't marry him, something's wrong with you!' My whole family was like, 'We like him more than you, so figure it out.'"

They aren't heading down the aisle immediately, though.

"It'll be a while because we have projects lined up," she says. "I don't want to hate the [wedding-planning] process. I want to take my time."

While she hasn't posted a close-up shot of her engagement ring on Instagram, she did wear the delicate, diamond-studded band to the gala last night. It's beautiful.

23rd Annual Race To Erase MS Gala Raises Over $1.6 Million

23rd Annual Race To Erase MS Gala Raises Over $1.6 Million

The 23rd Annual Race To Erase MS Gala raised over $1.6 Million on April 15 at the Beverly Hilton. Money raised will benefit the Race to Erase MS and its Center Without Walls program, a collaboration of top MS research centers working together as a team on ground-breaking research with the goal of treating and, ultimately, finding a cure for MS.

Celebrity guests in attendance included musical performers KISS, Eric Benét and musical director David Foster; presenters Randy Jackson, LL Cool J, Jaime Pressly, and Ashley Tisdale; along with Garcelle Beauvais, Carmen Electra, Kat Graham, Annie Ilonzeh, Katherine McNamara, AJ Michalka, Aly Michalka, Naya Rivera and Diane Warren.

The 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala included a live auction, which was introduced by Jaime Pressly. Lucky bidders walked away with items including a Hawaiian vacation for two, tea at the Peninsula Hotel with Sharon and Kelly Osbourne, and an 8-day African SkySafari. The big item of the night was a private yacht tour of the Bahamas, which went for an incredible $30,000.

Following the auction, musical director David Foster brought Eric Benét onstage for a moving tribute to a longtime supporter and friend of the cause, the late Natalie Cole, with a rendition of "Unforgettable." Randy Jackson then introduced iconic band KISS, who performed hit songs including "Deuce," "Calling Dr. Love," "Cold Gin," and fan-favorite "Rock And Roll All Nite."

In what has become a Race to Erase MS tradition over the past 23 years, an uplifting rendition of "Lean On Me," was performed as the finale of the evening, led by Emblem3, who were joined on stage by Nancy Davis, David Foster, BC Jean, David Foster, and more.

Each guest received a coveted Race to Erase MS gift bag, bursting at the seams with an amazing selection of items including gifts from MAC Cosmetics, ALEX AND ANI(R), and Peter Thomas Roth, to name a few.

Natalie Cole Remembered at Nancy Davis's MS Fundraiser by Eric Benet, David Foster

■ Celebrity by Leah Sydney - April 20, 2016 12:10 am

Natalie Cole might be gone, but she is definitely in the heart of her dear friend Nancy Davis, who held her 23rd annual "Race To Erase MS" fundraiser last week at the Beverly Hilton.

Davis—daughter of beloved Barbara and the late Marvin Davis (once the owner of both 20th Century Fox and the Beverly Hills Hotel)—continues to be the indefatigable force she is in fighting Multiple Sclerosis, which she was diagnosed with 34 years ago. She was told then to expect a bleak future to say the least. Nancy with the help of her powerhouse mother and the classiest lady in town Barbara Davis, started the fundraiser which supports Davis's "Center Without Walls" program, which funds a network of doctors working towards the prevention and cure for MS.

The gala honored Carolyn Rafadian, CEO of Alex and Ani, for her philanthropic work with "Charity by Design." The evening started with the event's famed silent auction, which includes such as Ashley Tisdale, Lami Anderson, Tommy Chong, Carmen Electra, Diane Warren, Teri Garr, Cybil Shepard, Doug Flutie and more perused. Davis, after being introduced by L.J. Choi J— who described her as "unstoppable" — paid loving tribute to her close friend Natalie Cole, who was deeply involved in the cause over the years.

"My brilliant friend Natalie, her son Robby is here tonight, entertained [at this event] seven times over the years. She came to the meetings, and was a true champion. She was an unforgettable friend and we all miss her like crazy."

"Mom" star Jaime Pressly took to the stage to start the silent auction. Before that she paid tribute to her good friend, "Sopranos" actress Jamie Lynn-Sigler, who recently revealed her own MS diagnosis. "Jamie's sorry she can't be here tonight, but because of the good medicine she's working. She's as good as she's ever been."

Randy Jackson introduced KISS, with the explanation that Paul Stanley would not be performing because of recent shoulder surgery, although he added he would be recovered in time to tour with KISS this summer.

Gene Simmons, Ace Frehley and Peter Criss ably rocked the house anyway. Jordan Smith, last year's winner from "The Voice," sang beautifully and ended his set with his winning song from the show, Queen's "Somebody to Love." The most poignant performance of the night was David Foster and Eric Benet's tribute to Natalie.

Foster, who was the evening's musical director, as he has been for most years, and Benet, who rightly criticized the Grammys this past year when they did not pay proper tribute to Natalie, flipped Natalie's and Nat King Cole's iconic "Unforgettable" around. Eric sang Nat's part while Natalie was heard singing her part. The room literally went silent; the moment was breathtaking, poignant and heartbreaking.

Uncle told the crowd that, "When we started there were no drugs on the market, no protocol, very little help. We just announced the FDA approval of the 13th drug on the market." The evening ended with all the performers on stage singing, "Lean On Me." Bravo Nancy Davis for your tireless work! Nancy is right, we all miss Natalie like crazy.

Carmen Electra claims Simon Cowell told her what to say while judging Britain's Got Talent

Carmen Electra claims Simon Cowell told her what to say while judging Britain's Got Talent

The former Baywatch star opened up about her time on the talent show

Carmen Electra has claimed Simon Cowell told her what to say when she appeared as a judge on Britain's Got Talent.

The former Baywatch star had a short-lived spell on the ITV show in 2012 when she covered for Amanda Holden during her maternity leave.

The stunner, 43, failed to impress some audience members who reportedly heckled her during filming, while fellow judge David Walliams joked recently that the reason she was hired was because Cowell wanted to 'get off' with her.

Speaking at a charity event in Los Angeles, Electra admitted Cowell would give her 'hints' and 'little things to say' when she was on the judging panel.

She told the Press Association: "I loved sitting next to Simon. He was antagonising me the whole time.

"He was helping me. He would tell me little hints or little things to say.

"It was a blast. I loved it. I would go back any time.

"If anyone's on a break, Simon - I would love to go back."

Former Playboy model Electra, who attended the Annual Race to Erase MS Gala at the Beverly Hilton hotel, said Britain's Got Talent was "so different" to the American version and she was surprised to see fans "line up for the show in London on the streets".

She said: "I had no idea, going on to set, walking out of the limousine, there would be fans everywhere who loved and support the show. It was incredible. It was a wonderful experience."

Asked whether she got on with Walliams, she replied: "Yeah, yeah it was fine. I remember Simon more than anything because he was cracking me up. He is so funny."

Ace Frehley of KISS Admitted to Hospital for Exhaustion

The former guitarist for the rock band had to cancel a concert in Poughkeepsie, New York and reschedule it for later date.

It's just a bad week for KISS. Just days after Paul Stanley recovered from a surgery for his torn bicep tendon, the band's former member and guitarist Ace Frehley was admitted to hospital for exhaustion and dehydration.

"Ace Frehley was admitted to Wilkes-Barre General Hospital following his show last night at the F.M. Kirby Center in Wilkes-Barre, PA," Frehley's Facebook page announced on Saturday, April 16. "After extensive testing, it was determined that Ace's symptoms were due to exhaustion and dehydration. In consultation with his doctors, Ace, who aside from the exhaustion and dehydration has been given a clean bill of health, has reluctantly agreed to cancel tonight's sold out show at the Chance in Poughkeepsie, NY."

Frehley had previously canceled a concert on April 9 in New Hope, Pennsylvania due to a member of his band's illness. Unlike the New Hope gig, the Poughkeepsie concert is subject to reschedule for September. "Once released from the hospital, Ace will be heading home to Southern California to recuperate. We wish him a speedy recovery," the Facebook post continued.

On Friday, KISS was forced to perform as a trio as Stanley recuperated. Gene Simmons performed with guitarist Tommy Thayer and drummer Eric Singer at the annual Race to Erase MS benefit in Los Angeles.

BY PATRICIA DADDONA

PROVIDENCE – Race to Erase MS will honor Carolyn Rafaelian, founder, CEO and chief creative officer of accessories brand Alex and Ani, with its 2016 Medal of Hope Award at the 23rd annual Race to Erase MS gala on April 15.

Taking place at the Beverly Hilton in Los Angeles, the gala, now in its 23rd year, has raised $36 million for Race to Erase MS and its Center Without Walls program. The event includes a silent auction, dinner and live musical performances.

Through the Cupcake Bangle, which Alex and Ani created exclusively for Race to Erase MS in 2012, 20 percent of the purchase price is directly donated to the organization. To date, more than $905,000 has been raised to help fund and further the mission.

"Her company has been instrumental in accelerating our mission to find a cure for multiple sclerosis as well as providing inspiration and hope to so many with this disease," said Nancy Davis, founder of the Race to Erase MS and host for the gala. "She is an unsung hero to so many causes around the world as she continues to fund millions of dollars towards worthy missions. We are blessed to be one of them and thrilled to recognize her compassion for so many."

Race to Erase MS is dedicated to the treatment and ultimate cure for MS. Funding research is the core focus of the foundation and significant strides have been made to find the cause and cure of this disease.

Since the event's inception 23 years ago, the race has been instrumental in funding many pilot studies that have contributed to drugs now on the market and other important therapies that are improving the lives of people suffering from MS.

All funds raised support the race's Center Without Walls program, a unique collaboration of the world's leading MS research scientists currently representing Harvard, Yale, Cedars Sinai, University of Southern California, Oregon Health Science University, UC San Francisco and Johns Hopkins.

Tickets to the 23rd annual Race to Erase MS Gala start at $1,000 and tables start at $10,000. To purchase tickets for the event, contact info@erasems.org or (310) 440-4842.

The Alex and Ani head has raised over $900,000 for the organization through a specially designed bangle.

Alex and Ani founder, CEO, and chief creative officer Carolyn Rafaelian will receive the Medal of Hope Award from Race to Erase MS at its annual gala on April 15 in Beverly Hills, Calif.

The Race to Erase MS Gala is in its 23rd year. Former recipients of the award include Tommy Hilfiger and Sharon Osbourne.

"[Rafaelian's] company has been instrumental in accelerating our mission to find a cure for multiple sclerosis as well as providing inspiration and hope to so many with this disease," said Nancy Davis, founder of Race to Erase MS. "She is an unsung hero to so many causes around the world as she continues to fund millions of dollars towards worthy missions. We are blessed to be one of them and thrilled to recognize her compassion for so many."

Rafaelian created the Cupcake Charm Bangle as a way to raise funds for Race to Erase MS. Twenty percent of the $28 purchase price goes to the organization; $905,000 has been raised since the product debuted in 2012.

Race to Erase MS Gala Draws LL Cool J, Larry King, Jaime Pressly

Nancy Davis' annual benefit also drew support from Diane Warren and Ashley Tisdale with a special performance from KISS.

While many celebs were flocking to the desert for Coachella, stars including LL Cool J, Randy Jackson, Diane Warren, Naya Rivera, Larry King, Jaime Pressly, David Foster and Ashley Tisdale attended Nancy Davis' annual Race to Erase MS fundraiser towards finding a cure for Multiple Sclerosis.

For many stars, the event is personal because they know someone who has been diagnosed with the disease. Jaime Pressly took the stage at the Beverly Hilton on Saturday night in front of a crowd including Gisele Bündchen, Kat Graham, Frances Fisher and Kirby and Rick Hilton to give a special shout out to actress Jamie Lynn Sigler who wasn't able to attend the event, but recently shared she was diagnosed with the disease as well.

"It's the tough thing to do when you are in the limelight to tell people what's wrong, so kudos to her for telling us what's right about MS and the fight and the Race to Erase MS which we are all here for tonight raising money," said Pressly. "That's the only thing celebrity is really good for. That and getting a table when you don't have a reservation."

The evening honored Carolyn Rafaelian, CEO of Alex and Ani, with the Medal of Hope award for her Charity by Design initiative which has allowed the foundation to donate over $26 million to charitable organizations.

David Foster and Eric Benet kicked off the night of entertainment with a moving tribute to Natalie Cole, a frequent supporter of Race to Erase MS. Foster later took the stage again with The Voice winner Jordan Smith to perform. Randy Jackson introduced KISS who rocked the crowd sans Paul Stanley (Jackson said the fourth member was undergoing surgery, but will recover in time for the group's summer tour) before all of the artists returned to the stage along with Clay Walker, BC Jean and Emblem3 to perform "Lean on Me" a song that traditionally closes out Davis' show.

The annual benefit has helped raise significant funds towards supporting a "Dream Team" of doctors that have made advances in curing MS, including a new drug which Davis announced during the evening.

"When I was first diagnosed with MS 25 years ago, there was no cause, no cure, no drugs. Now there is finally going to be a drug that helps people with chronic and primary progressive MS," said Davis. "The 14th drug will get FDA approval before the end of the year. This is a life changing situation."

Davis' gala has raised over $36 million for MS — a disease that Davis was diagnosed with over 20 years ago. Funds raised from the event will go towards the Center Without Walls program established to bring together top doctors in an effort to find a cure for MS.

Ashley Tisdale is laughing off her recent wardrobe malfunction.

The 30-year-old actress didn't expect photographer's camera flashes to expose the fact that she went braless at the Mother's Day premiere in Hollywood, California, on Wednesday, but -- whoops! -- they sure did.

Tisdale made sure that she didn't make the same mistake again, turning up for the event with her husband, Christopher French, in a gorgeous long-sleeve crochet white gown -- which featured a bralette.

"This is intentional tonight," she joked while pointing to her breasts.

This annual MS event was very important to Tisdale, who introduced a performance by last season's The Voice winner, Jordan Smith, during the gala.

"I love supporting any charity that I can and obviously with MS, I think it affects women in their 30s. It's really scary because I'm 30," she told ET. "I just love what [founder] Nancy Davis has done, making it her mission, putting together something like this, obviously trying to help and trying to find a cure for them."

Disney Star Dove Cameron Was Surprised by Ryan McCartan's Proposal

Disney Star Dove Cameron Was Surprised by Ryan McCartan's Proposal

The Liv and Maddie star was caught off guard.

Disney Channel starlet Dove Cameron knew she'd marry her hunky Liv and Maddie co-star Ryan McCartan someday, but she had no idea when he was going to propose.

Ryan threw fans of the show into a shipper tizzy when he made the announcement via Instagram last week, posting a sweet pic of the two.

The actual proposal, however, "was very spur-of-the-moment. It was perfect. It was more romantic and bohemian than traditional," gushed Cameron.

The actress remembered the first time she and McCartan, who met on the Liv and Maddie set in 2013 and began dating shortly after, knew marriage was in the cards.

"We had this stupid moment, a stupid cheesy moment in my dressing room where he looked at me and it was all like dramatic — it was so dramatic! He stared at me, and I was like, 'What?' And he was like, 'Oh I don't know. I can see myself ... nothing.' And I was like, 'I can see myself, too.' And literally from then on, we're like, 'Are we going to get married?' Alright, cool." And it's been like three years, and now we're engaged." Aww, big heart emoji right here.

Cameron and McCartan are also in a band called The Girl and the Dreamcatcher, so maybe they'll perform at their wedding, which, at this point, Cameron is in no hurry to organize. "It'll be a while because we have projects lined up. I don't want to hate the process. I want to take my time."

KISS To Rock Race To Erase MS Gala

March 10, 2016

Race to Erase MS is proud to announce that legendary rock and roll band KISS will perform at the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala to show their support and help raise awareness for the cause.

"It's an honor to have KISS be a part of the 23rd Race to Erase MS Gala," said Paul Stanley. "Charity work and helping those in need is never an option... it's everyone's obligation. And yes, we WILL rock this house."

This renowned celebrity-filled event has raised $46 million for Race to Erase MS and its Center Without Walls program throughout its history. KISS joins Race to Erase MS founder Nancy Davis, along with previously announced 2016 "Medal of Hope" Award recipient Carolyn Rafaelian of ALEX AND ANI at the event, which will take place on April 15 at the Beverly Hilton in Los Angeles. Over 1,000 celebrity and distinguished guests are expected to attend the gala, which will also include a sit-down dinner and both live and silent auctions.

"If you have your health, it's easy to take for granted but for all those who need us, need us to care, contribute, make a difference, here is your opportunity with the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala," said Gene Simmons. "KISS is honored to perform this year but it's going to be even better when we come back to play the We Rocked MS 'Ass Party'."

As America's #1 Gold Record Award winning group of all time in all categories (RIAA), KISS can easily be named one of rock's most influential bands of all time. To date, they have released 44 albums, and sold over 100 million albums worldwide. Between their incredible achievements in music, their philanthropic endeavors, their notable appearances, and their pursuits in TV and film, KISS' legacy only continues to grow. KISS' unique ability to transcend generations has led to 40 plus years of record-breaking global tours and no sign of slowing down. Race to Erase MS looks forward to welcoming true icons to the stage for what is sure to be a memorable performance and an unforgettable evening...

KISS Performs At Star-Studded Race To Erase MS Gala

On Friday, April 15th, Multiple Sclerosis (MS) advocate and Center Without Walls founder, Nancy Davis, welcomed guests to the Beverly Hilton for the 23rd Annual Race To Erase MS Gala.

The event raised over $1.2 million to benefit the Race to Erase MS and its Center Without Walls program, a collaboration of top MS research centers working together as a team on ground-breaking research with the goal of finding and, ultimately, finding a cure for MS.

Adding guests to this year's event included host Nancy Davis, Honoree Carolyn Rafaelian, musical performers KISS, Jordan Smith, and his Band, musical director David Foster, producers Randy Jackson, LL Cool J, Jane Fonda, and Ashley Tisdale, along with guests such as Anderson, Garcelle Beauvais, Paige Brevitor, Wendy Burch, Drew Cameron, Francesca Capaldi, Adam Chipembere, Tonya Chang, Dee DeLuca, Christine Downs, Carmen Electra, Emilem3, Frances Fisher, Doug Hyde, Christine Ford, Tom Cusi, Kai Graham, Marg Helgenberger, Anneke Benson, St. John, Larry King, Justin Kirk, Camille Dubbington, Ricki Layman, Katherine Mulvaney, AJ Michalka, Aly Michalka, Megan Nicole, Naya Rivera, Johnathon Schaech, Coby Shepherd, Jojo Siwa, Lee Thompson, Anna Treburskaya, Aisha Tyler, Louis Van Amstel, Clay Walker, Diane Warren, Dave Winfield, and many more.

LL Cool J opened the night with rousing remarks, introducing host and organization founder Nancy Davis. Nancy Davis welcomed guests to the legendary gala and presented the 2016 Medal of Hope Award to Carolyn Rafaelian, noting Carolyn's remarkable commitment to giving back, not just to Race to Erase MS, but to the world.

The 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala included a live auction, which was introduced by Jane Fonda, Lucky Luciano, and was joined with items including a Hawaii vacation for two at the Four Seasons Hotel with Stanley and Kelly Osbourne, and an Andy Warhol Skybell. The big lot of the night was a private yacht tour of the Bahamas, which went for an incredible $80,000.

Following the auction, musical director David Foster brought Dr. Dennis on stage for a moving tribute to a longtime supporter and friend of the cause, the late Isabelle Cole, with a rendition of "Unforgettable." He turned the stage back over to Nancy Davis so that she could recognize the donors from the Center Without Walls in person, bringing them onstage to introduce them to the crowd. Next, Ashley Tisdale introduced Jordan Smith, who gave an incredible performance that included his original song "Stand in the Light." Randy Jackson then introduced KISS, who performed hit songs including "Doctor," "Calling Dr. Love," "Cold Gin," and "Rock and Roll All Night."

In what has become a Race to Erase MS tradition over the past 23 years, an uplifting rendition of "Lean On Me" was performed at the finale of the evening, led by Chris MC, who were joined on stage by Nancy Davis, David Foster, DJ Jean, David Foster, and more.

Each guest received a coveted Race to Erase MS gift bag, brimming at the gala with an amazing selection of items including gifts from BMW, Cosentino, ALEX AND ANI, and Water Thomas Roth, to name a few.

The evening was generously sponsored by The Beverly Hilton, Associated Television International, and ALEX AND ANI Charity by Design.

Race to Erase MS is dedicated to the treatment and ultimate cure for MS. Finding research is the core focus of the foundation and significant strides have been made to find the cause and cure of this debilitating disease. At the event's inception 23 years ago, the absence of medications and therapies encouraged its involvement: the Race has been instrumental in funding many pilot studies that have contributed to drugs now on the market and other very important therapies that are improving the lives of people suffering from MS.

All funds raised support the Center Without Walls program, a unique collaboration of the world's leading MS research centers currently representing Harvard, Yale, University of California, University of Southern California, Oregon Health Science University, UC San Francisco and Johns Hopkins. This nationwide collaboration of physicians, scientists and clinicians are on the cutting edge of innovative research and therapeutic approaches to treat MS. It is the hope of the Race to Erase MS that in addition to combating MS through research in a clinical environment, awareness will be created by educating the public about this mysterious disease.

Nancy Davis' Race to Erase MS Gala Taps Carolyn Rafaelian for Medal of Hope Award

by Chris Gardner

The Alex and Ani founder has been actively involved in fundraising for years.

Race to Erase MS has tapped Carolyn Rafaelian — founder, CEO and chief creative officer of accessories brand Alex and Ani — to receive this year's Medal of Hope Award at the 23rd annual Race to Erase MS event hosted by Nancy Davis. The event is scheduled for April 15 at the Beverly Hilton.

The honor comes after Rafaelian and her Alex and Ani company created a Cupcake Bangle exclusively for the cause in 2012. She donated 20 percent of the purchase price to the organization to the tune of $905,000, to date. Her company creates products using recycled materials and eco-conscious processes and maintains a philanthropic side, courtesy of a Charity by Design collection. Alex and Ani also participate in "Orange You Happy to Erase MS" awareness month each May.

Davis said she's honored and proud to recognize Rafaelian and her work on behalf of the org. "Through the Cupcake Bangle, designed exclusively for Race to Erase MS, her company has been instrumental in accelerating our mission to find a cure for multiple sclerosis as well as providing inspiration and hope to so many with this disease. She is an unsung hero to so many causes around the world as she continues to fund millions of dollars towards worthy missions," she added.

Davis' legendary gala has raised $36 million for Race to Erase MS and its Center Without Walls program, a collaboration of the world's leading MS research scientists currently representing Harvard, Yale, Cedars Sinai, University of Southern California, Oregon Health Science University, UC San Francisco and Johns Hopkins.

NAYA RIVERA IS GLOWING ALONGSIDE HER SON JOSEY ON HER LATEST MAGAZINE COVER

The 29-year-old just posed for the cover of Fit Pregnancy and Baby and spoke about being a mami to her 8-month-old son, Josey. Rivera is loving life right now and we have to say that her motherly glow is on fleek.

"You're always going to wonder if you're doing things wrong, but that's what it means to be a mom, to care so much about someone else that you just want to be as perfect as possible. . . . I have these 'aha' moments about motherhood all the time," she tells the mag. "For instance, when it was my birthday earlier this year, I called my mom and said, 'I totally get it now; birthdays are for the parents.' Now I understand that the day you give birth to your child, and see him for the first time, will always be such a special day."

Rivera spoke very candidly about the reason why she doesn't really post any pictures of her son and we have to say part of us agrees with her even though we would love to see more of little Josey.

"Don't get me wrong. I want to post photos of him every day because he's so cute, but I try to just post mostly on holidays, because some things should be kept private," she said. "Obviously, doing a magazine cover with him was a big decision, but I know it's something we'll look back on and cherish."

Rivera was recently at the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala earlier this week, where she looked smokin' hot in a red dress and Tamara Mellon 'Horizon' sandals.

KISS has signed on to perform at the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala, a star-studded benefit held to raise awareness about multiple sclerosis. The event will take place April 15 at the Beverly Hilton in Los Angeles.

More than 1,000 celebrities are expected to be on hand for the fundraiser, which also will feature live and silent auctions, as well as a sit-down dinner.

Over the years, the event has raised $46 million for Race to Erase MS and its Center Without Walls program, and provides financial support to the medical community to help advance understanding of the disease and aid in its treatment.

"If you have your health it's easy to take for granted but for all those who need us, need us to care, contribute, make a difference, here is your opportunity with the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala," says KISS' Gene Simmons in a statement. "KISS is honored to perform this year but it's going to be even better when we come back to play the We Kicked MS' Ass Party!"

Adds Paul Stanley, "It's an honor to have KISS be a part of the 23rd Race to Erase MS Gala. Charity work and helping those in need is never an option...It's everyone's obligation. And yes, we WILL rock the house."

For more information about the gala and the charity, visit EraseMS.org.

The benefit is one of just a handful of confirmed performances KISS has lined up in the U.S. this year. Here are the other shows on the band's schedule:

- 4/30 -- Orlando, FL, Moonstone Festival
- 7/29 -- Cheyenne, WY, Cheyenne Frontier Days
- 7/30 -- Minot, ND, North Dakota State Fair
- 9/30 -- Minot, ND, Norsk Høstfest

Dove Cameron Dishes on Ryan McCartan's Marriage Proposal

It's only been days since Dove Cameron and her longtime love Ryan McCartan announced that they were engaged to be married.

Speaking with People at the Race to Erase MS Gala on Friday (April 15), the 20-year-old actress opened up about Ryan's "spur of the moment" proposal.

"We were both very clear with each other that it was like, 'I know you're my person. You know you're my person. There's nobody else.' But I knew he wanted to get married young — he had told me that. He was like, 'That's what I want as my life plan.' It was very spur-of-the-moment. It was perfect," she shared.

Dove added about her family's approval of Ryan from the get-go: "He had the permission sort of after the first year that we were together. My mom was like, 'If you don't marry him, something's wrong with you!' My whole family was like, 'We like him more than you, so figure it out.'"

"It'll be a while because we have projects lined up," she admits about actually exchanging vows. "I don't want to hate the process. I want to bide my time."

KISS to Perform at Multiple Sclerosis Fundraiser in L.A. Next Month

has signed on to perform at the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala, a star-studded benefit held to raise awareness about multiple sclerosis. The event will take place April 15 at the Beverly Hilton in Los Angeles.

More than 1,000 celebrities are expected to be on hand for the fundraiser, which also will feature live and silent auctions, as well as a sit-down dinner.

Over the years, the event has raised $46 million for Race to Erase MS and its Center Without Walls program, and provides financial support to the medical community to help advance "If you have your health it's easy to take for granted but for all those who need us, need us to care, contribute, make a difference, here is your opportunity with the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala," says KISS' Gene Simmons in a statement. "KISS is honored to perform this year but it's going to be even better when we come back to play the We Kicked MS' Ass Party!"

Adds Paul Stanley, "It's an honor to have KISS be a part of the 23rd Race to Erase MS Gala. Charity work and helping those in need is never an option...it's everyone's obligation. And yes, we WILL rock the house."

For more information about the gala and the charity, visit EraseMS.org.

The benefit is one of just a handful of confirmed performances KISS has lined up in the U.S. this year. Here are the other shows on the band's schedule:

- 4/30 — Orlando, FL, Moonstone Festival
- 7/29 — Cheyenne, WY, Cheyenne Frontier Days
- 7/30 — Minot, ND, North Dakota State Fair
- 9/30 — Minot, ND, Norsk Hostfest

DOVE CAMERON DISHES ON HER ENGAGEMENT TO COSTAR RYAN MCCARTAN

Press Pass LA was on the red carpet to support Race to Erase MS and had the chance to catch up with "Liv and Maddie" star Dove Cameron to chat about her recent engagement to costar Ryan McCartan. The couple announced their engagement earlier this week on social media after three years of dating! McCartan, age 22, announced the engagement to his 20-year-old costar in his 1000th Instagram post "Dedicating my 1,000th post to my fiancé. I can't believe I get to call you that. Thanks for saying yes!"

Watch to see what Dove had to say about the big announcement! (And, she even gets pretty-eyed.)

Remember Aly & AJ? Look how AMAZING they're looking these days!

Just life funny sometimes...

We were literally JUST talking to some friends Aly & AJ got power lunches over the weekend and remembering how much we loved their time back when pop up on the red carpet at a Los Angeles country bash!

The sisters lent their support to the annual Race To Erase MS Gala on Friday, 15 April and, yep, they look just as beautiful as we remember! (Though slightly less blonde in Aly's case!)

Aly Michalka, 27, has ditched her platinum blonde locks for a luscious chocolate colour, and looked absolutely gorgeous as she posed on the red carpet in a pretty strapless blue lace frock.

Younger sister AJ, meanwhile, is still sporting her golden tresses and looking fabulous! The 25-year-old went for an edge off the shoulder crop top and muted black mesh skirt.

Love the look!

Aly & AJ began their solo music career back in 2004 and brought us classic gems including 'Potential Break Up Song', 'Ruff' and 'Like Whore'. They briefly rebranded as 78-watt in 2009 before evolving to their previous moniker. Excitingly, they're currently working on new music!

Aside from music, both girls have enjoyed successful acting careers.

Aly starred alongside Ashley Tisdale in Mean Girls and has appeared in Tiro and a Half Men. She's also appeared on the big screen in movies including Easy A and The Roommate. She can currently be seen in US TV show Qubrick. AJ, meanwhile, has appeared in movies Super 8, Crash, Unplugged and The Lucky Ones and currently stars in sitcom The Goldbergs.

INSIDE THE RACE TO ERASE MS GALA

Some of Hollywood's biggest names attended the 23rd annual Race to Erase MS Gala held at the Beverly Hilton on Friday night. LL Cool J, Randy Jackson, Jaime Pressly, and Ashley Tisdale hosted the gala, which raises funds to provide treatment and eventually find a cure to multiple sclerosis.

Nancy Davis founded Race to Erase MS in 1993 after she was diagnosed with MS. Since her diagnosis, she has devoted her time and resources to finding a cure.

The gala featured a live auction and multiple musical performances. Eric Benet played a tribute to Natalie Cole. Jordan Smith, KISS, Emblem3, and others performed as well.

New You caught up with some celebrities who came out to support a great cause.

Ashley Tisdale was very excited to be there and to see KISS perform.

Founder Nancy Davis said they were about to announce FDA approval of the 14th MS drug.

Did Gene Simmons Endorse Donald Trump? He Claims The Candidate Has "Changed The Game"

As the Republican party debates whether or not billionaire frontrunner Donald Trump should snag the presidential nomination this summer at their convention, they have a new opinion to take into consideration. On Monday, Kiss frontman Gene Simmons endorsed Donald Trump as his preferred candidate to take over the Oval Office come next January. Well, sort of.

At the John Varvatos 13th Annual Stuart House Benefit in West Hollywood this weekend, Simmons told People magazine that he thinks the country could use a good dose of whatever Trump has to offer the country. Simmons said that although he didn't want to divulge who he planned on ultimately voting for, he respects how Trump has "changed the game," much like Simmons' own band did when it came to bringing over-the-top antics to hard rock in the '70s.

The glam metal rocker told People that he appreciates how Trump puts himself out there, even if it gets him in trouble sometimes. "This guy funds his own campaign, and he is going to say things that tens of millions of people actually say quietly because politically it's 'incorrect.'" He added that Trump's appeal to some voters is that he "doesn't care" what people think of him. "I think people are sick and tired of politicians who have words that are written by other people," he said.

The metal legend probably knows what he's talking about, too, since he had a spot with the candidate when he was a contestant on the third season of Celebrity Apprentice. Although he was eventually eliminated, the musician managed to get under Donald's skin in early on by "insulting" the real estate mogul's daughter, Ivanka. Simmons had told Ivanka that she "could wait" during a progress visit while his team worked on a project. Trump later reprimanded him saying, "It was just unnecessary." He told Simmons that his behavior was "not a strategically intelligent thing to do," according to a People recap of the episode at the time. Simmons later got down on one knee to apologize in the final elimination. Talk about management skills. (Let's pause and just imagine world leaders bowing to Trump as U.S. president in two years.)

Dove Cameron Reveals Details of Ryan McCartan's Spontaneous Proposal

Disney star Dove Cameron and long-time boyfriend Ryan McCartan became engaged yesterday, April 15, as revealed by both the actors via their respective Instagram accounts. The 20-year-old Liv and Maddie star gushed over the spontaneity of the act, in an interview that took place on Friday, with People, at the Race to Erase MS gala's 23rd annual function. Cameron admitted that while she knew her partner was the one she wanted to spend her life with, and that she had become aware of this some time ago, she was still caught off guard by the proposal.

Former KISS Member Ace Frehley Hospitalized for Exhaustion and Dehydration

Ace Frehley, a former KISS member and guitarist, was hospitalized for exhaustion and dehydration at Wilkes-Barre General Hospital in Pennsylvania, according to Frehley's Facebook page on Saturday. The hospitalization caused Frehley to postpone the concert show he had scheduled on Saturday night in Poughkeepsie, New York, according to Rolling Stone.

Frehley's bout with dehydration and exhaustion and concert cancellation came just a day after KISS was forced to perform on Friday as a trio for only the second time ever in the band's 40-year career, following a tear to the bicep tendon that guitarist Paul Stanley experienced. Stanley had surgery performed on the tear, according to a tweet he posted on his Twitter account, the Inquirer reported. Stanley wrote that the torn bicep was reattached "with a screw and stitches to anchor in place."

The separate and unrelated medical issues that both KISS guitarists faced, causing Frehley to cancel and eventually reschedule the Poughkeepsie concert and Stanley to miss out on playing with his bandmates on Friday night at the Race to Erase MS benefit in Los Angeles, were coincidental, but sad news to their fans. A statement on Ace Frehley's Facebook page said that the famous rock guitarist, other than for his dehydration and case of exhaustion, "has been given a clean bill of health." He had been scheduled to perform at a sold out show at the Chance.

I haven't seen Camilla Luddington on the carpet in a little but the actress attended the 23rd Annual Race To Erase MS Gala on Friday(April 15th) at The Beverly Hilton Hotel in Beverly Hills, CA.

She hit the orange carpet in a ALEXANDER MCQUEEN sleeveless ivory crepe mini dress with a high neck which was adorned with red embellished hearts.

I loved Camilla's beauty look here which featured an on trend braided crown and a bold fuchsia lip. Opting not to accessorize her look, she finished up with the celeb favorite STUART WEITZMAN 'Nudist' sandals.

'Simon told me what to say on Britain's Got Talent' claims Carmen Electra

FORMER Baywatch star Carmen Electra says Simon Cowell told her what to say when she judged Britain's Got Talent.

By David Mercer / Published 17th April 2016

FIX Carmen Electra has claimed that Simon Cowell told her what to say on BGT

The American model and actress had a short-lived spell on the ITV show in 2012 when she covered for Amanda Holden's maternity leave.

Carmen, 43, failed to impress some audience members who reportedly heckled her during filming.

Speaking at a charity event in Los Angeles, Carmen admitted Cowell gave her "hints" and "little things to say" when she was on the judging panel.

She said: "I loved sitting next to Simon. He was antagonising me the whole time.

"He was helping me. He would tell me little hints or little things to say.

"It was a blast. I loved it. I would go back any time.

"If anyone's on a break, Simon, I would love to go back."

Former Playboy model Electra, who attended the Annual Race to Erase MS Gala at the Beverly Hilton hotel, said Britain's Got Talent was "so different" from the American version and she was surprised to see fans "line up for the show in London on the streets".

She said: "I had no idea, going on to set, walking out of the limousine, there would be fans everywhere who loved and support the show.

"It was incredible. It was a wonderful experience."

Race to Erase MS Gala Raises Over $1.6 Million

April 17, 2016 Comments Off Events, Lifestyle

By Arianna Pintado

An event full of amazing people to support a great cause.

This past Friday Nancy Davis, Multiple Sclerosis advocate and Center Without Walls founder hosted the 23rd Annual Race To Erase MS Gala at the Beverly Hilton in Los Angeles. The event raised an incredible $1.6 million towards the Race to Erase MS and its Center Without Walls program, a collaboration of top MS research centers working together as a team on ground-breaking research with the goal of treating and hopefully finding a cure for MS.

The event kicked off with LL Cool J who gave touching remarks and introduced host and founder Nancy Davis. Nancy then gave a warm welcome to guests and presented the 2016 Medal of Hope Award to Alex and Ani's Carolyn Rafaelian for her remarkable commitment to giving back to not just Race to Erase MS but to so many.

The gala also included a live auction, which was introduced by Jaime Pressly. Lucky bidders got to walk away with grand items including a jaw-dropping vacation for two, tea at the Peninsula Hotel with Sharon and Kelly Osbourne and an 8-day African Sky Safari. The jackpot of the night was a private yacht tour of the Bahamas, which went for an outstanding $30,000.

After the auction festivity musical director David Foster brought Eric Burdon onstage to perform a moving tribute to a longtime friend and supporter of the cause, the late Natalie Cole, with a rendition of "Unforgettable."

The stage was then turned over to Nancy where she took a moment to recognize the doctors from the Center Without Walls in person, bringing them out to introduce to guests. Following this Ashley Tisdale introduced Jordan Smith who gave an amazing performance that included his original song "Stand in the Light." Randy Jackson had the pleasure of introducing iconic rock band KISS, who performed some of their hit songs including "Deuce," "Calling Dr. Love," "Cold Gin," and "Rock and Roll All Nite."

The exciting evening was wrapped up by the Race to Erase MS tradition created over the past 23 years, an rendition of "Lean On Me" led by Emblem3. The group was joined on stage by Nancy Davis, David Foster, BC Jean and more.

Some famous faces who attended this year's event included host Nancy Davis, honoree Carolyn Rafaelian, musical performers KISS, Jordan Smith, and Eric Burdon, musical director David Foster, presenters Randy Jackson, LL Cool J, Jaime Pressly, and Ashley Tisdale, along with guests Lori Anderson, Genevieve Beaulieu, Paget Brewster, Wendy Burch, Dove Cameron, Francesca Capaldi, Artem Chigvintsev, Tommy Chong, Lisa D'Albert, Christine Devine, Carmen Electra, Emblem3, David Faustino, Frances Fisher, Doug Flutie, Clementine Ford, Teri Garr, Kat Graham, Marg Helgenberger, Annie Hinton, BC Jean, Larry King, Justin Kirk, Camilla Luddington, Ross Matthews, Katherine McNamara, AJ Michalka, Aly Michalka, Megan Nicole, Naya Rivera, Shaun Robinson, Ellen Rose Reed, Olivia Seraphy, Rhea Seehorn, Cybill Shepherd, Ina Sima, Eryka Szwedka, Anna Trebunskaya, Louis Van Amstel, Kirsten Vangness, Clay Walker, Diane Warren, Dave Winfield, and many more.

In add to the fun guests also received a Race to Erase MS gift bag that was packed with an array of awesome items including gifts from MAC Cosmetics, Alex and Ani, Peter Thomas Roth and more.

KISS to Perform at Multiple Sclerosis Fundraiser in L.A. Next Month

KISS has signed on to perform at the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala, a star-studded benefit held to raise awareness about multiple sclerosis. The event will take place April 15 at the Beverly Hilton in Los Angeles.

More than 1,000 celebrities are expected to be on hand for the fundraiser, which also will feature live and silent auctions, as well as a sit-down dinner.

Over the years, the event has raised $46 million for Race to Erase MS and its Center Without Walls program, and provides financial support to the medical community to help advance understanding of the disease and aid in its treatment.

"If you have your health it's easy to take for granted but for all those who need us, need us to care, contribute, make a difference, here is your opportunity with the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala," says KISS' Gene Simmons in a statement. "KISS is honored to perform this year but

Adds Paul Stanley, "It's an honor to have KISS be a part of the 23rd Race to Erase MS Gala. Charity work and helping those in need is never an option...It's everyone's obligation. And yes, we WILL rock the house."

Race to Erase MS Gala Draws LL Cool J, Larry King, Jaime Pressly

While many celebs were flocking to the desert for Cowboy Bebop, stars including LL Cool J, Randy Jackson, Diane Warren, Naya Rivera, Larry King, Jaime Pressly, David Foster and Ashley Tisdale attended Nancy Davis' annual Race to Erase MS fundraiser toward finding a cure for Multiple Sclerosis.

For many stars, the event is personal because they know someone who has been diagnosed with the disease. Jaime Pressly took the stage at the Beverly Hilton on Saturday night in front of a crowd including Caroline Beauséjour, Kat Graham, Frances Fisher and Kathy and Rick Hilton to give a special shoutout to actress Jamie Lynn Sigler, who wasn't able to attend the event, but recently shared she was diagnosed with the disease as well.

"It's the tough thing to do when you are in the limelight to tell people what's wrong, so kudos to her for telling us what's right about MS and the fight and the Race to Erase MS, which we are all here for tonight raising money," said Pressly. "That's the only thing celebrity is really good for. That and getting a table when you don't have a reservation."

The evening honored Carolyn Rafaelian, CEO of Alex and Ani, with the Medal of Hope award for her Charity by Design initiative, which has allowed the foundation to donate over $25 million to charitable organizations.

David Foster and Eric Benet kicked off the night of entertainment with a moving tribute to Natalie Cole, a frequent supporter of Race to Erase MS. Foster later took the stage again with The Voice winner Jordan Smith to perform. Randy Jackson introduced KiSS, who rocked the crowd sans Paul Stanley (Jackson said the fourth member was undergoing surgery, but will recover in time for the group's summer tour) before all of the artists returned to the stage along with Clay Walker, BC Jean and Emblem3 to perform "Lean on Me," a song that traditionally closes out Davis' show.

The annual benefit has helped raise significant funds toward supporting a "Dream Team" of doctors that have made advances in curing MS, including a new drug that Davis announced during the evening.

"When I was first diagnosed with MS 25 years ago, there was no cause, no cure, no drugs. Now there is finally going to be a drug that helps people with chronic and primary progressive MS," said Davis. "The 14th drug will get FDA approval before the end of the year. This is a life-changing situation."

Davis' gala has raised over $36 million for MS. Funds raised from the event will go towards the Center Without Walls program, established to bring together top doctors in an effort to find a cure for MS.

EXCLUSIVE: Ashley Tisdale Laughs Off Braless Wardrobe Malfunction: 'It's So Ridiculous'

Ashley Tisdale is laughing off her recent wardrobe malfunction.

The 30-year-old actress didn't expect photographer's camera flashes to expose the fact that she wasn't dressed at the Mad Men premiere in Hollywood, California, on Wednesday, but — whoops! — they sure did.

But when ET's Sophie Schillaci caught up with her at the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala in Beverly Hills on Friday, Tisdale brushed the incident off.

"I literally saw the pictures on Twitter start coming up, and I literally started laughing," she said. "I was like, 'Of course this would happen to me! Like, of course. But it's just one of those things that you have to laugh at. It's so ridiculous.'"

"I mean my stylist said, 'Do not wear those. You will see them,'" she added. "It was an option in the bag, though. I was like, 'Oh, it's an option. Maybe they felt like I could.' But no!"

Tisdale made sure that she didn't make the same mistake again, turning up for the event with her husband, Christopher French, in a gorgeous long-sleeve crochet white gown — which featured a bralette.

This annual MS event was very important to Tisdale, who introduced a performance by last season's The Voice winner, Jordan Smith, during the gala.

"I love supporting any charity that I can and obviously with MS, I think it affects women in their 30s. It's really scary because I'm 30," she told ET. "I just love what [founder] Nancy Davis has done, making it her mission, putting together something like this, obviously trying to help and trying to find a cure for them."

It's nice to see the Clipped star support philanthropic efforts and keep a sense of humor, a character trait she says is a necessity in the entertainment industry. In fact, she continued to do so with ET when she was asked about her tried and true tricks for the red carpet.

"Be comfortable. Be very comfortable. Show off something that you don't plan on doing," she joked. "No, I think it's just about having fun. I don't take things too seriously. I like to have fun!"

Tisdale is definitely doing just that! In fact, she also opened up about her Young & Hungry spin-off, in which she'll bring back her heavily tattooed character, Logan Rawlings.

"We're trying to find a way to tone down the tattoos, because when we thought of the character at first... [we] never thought that we would have to do it all the time!" she said of what became a recurring role. "We're going to come up with some creative ways to tone down the tattoos a little. Just because, I can't even explain to you, they stay on for days. I had to go to Photos the next morning, and they were like, 'Ashley, you got new tattoos?' They're like colorful and crazy, so yeah, we're going to find something creative."

Now that's one functioning wardrobe we're excited to see!

Dove Cameron Opens Up About Ryan McCartan's Proposal: "I Knew He Wanted to Get Married Young"

Dove Cameron and Ryan McCartan are engaged! The day after the news broke, Dove headed to the Race to Erase MS Gala, where she told People the super-cute details behind their engagement.

"We were both very clear with each other that it was like, 'I know you're my person. You know you're my person. There's nobody else,'" she shared. "But I knew he wanted to get married young — he had told me that. He was like, 'That's what I want as my life plan.' It was very spur-of-the-moment. It was perfect."

Dove and Ryan, who have been dating since 2013, have been planning their future together for awhile now.

"He had the permission sort of what the final year that we were together," she said. "My mom was like, 'If you don't marry him, something's wrong with you?' My whole family was like, 'We like him more than you, so figure it out.'"

They aren't heading down the aisle immediately, though.

"It'll be a while because we have projects lined up," she says. "I don't want to have the [wedding planning] process. I want to take my time."

While she hasn't posted a close-up shot of her engagement ring on Instagram, she did wear the delicate, diamond-encrusted band to the gala last night. It's beautiful.

Carmen Electra: 'I'm Very Happy' with New Mystery Boyfriend – and 'I Still Like Bad Boys'

No matter how she's feeling about her dating life, Carmen Electra understands one key thing about her taste in men: "I still like the bad boys. That's not going to change."

"I'm very happy with my current situation" in her love life, she told PEOPLE at the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS gala fundraiser in Beverly Hills on Friday. And while she didn't offer up the name of her romantic partner, she said the relationship's been underway "for a little bit. Taking things slowly — very slowly. Yeah, I've been single now for a while, and that was really fun. I met someone that I'm really interested in, so we're taking it slow. We'll see."

The actress also notes that the man in her life fits the bad boy mold — but that he's "a bad boy that's in a good place." (Electra's former flames include ex-husbands NFL player Derrick Rose and Jane's Addiction rocker Dave Navarro; Kom guitarist Dirk Patterson, to whom she was once engaged, and ex-boyfriends Prince and Cypress Hill rapper B-Roc.)

"This is what I've learned over the years: my attraction to bad boys has to do with their life experiences," Electra says. "They've had lows, and they've gone through hard times, so in order to get past that, they've had to do a lot of work. So usually there's a different kind of intelligence that goes along with that, and awareness — spirituality. And I have to be with someone that's very intelligent, someone that I'm going to learn from."

That said, over the years, the star, 43, has rewritten her relationship guidelines.

"One of the most important things to me is to be honest [and] communication," she says. "I have to have honesty, and I have to be able to be myself completely. I'm usually a good ice breaker. I just laugh at myself. I don't take myself too seriously. That breaks the ice usually. I can't be with someone that's too uptight because it just doesn't work. I have to laugh a lot."

She's also grown more confident in her own skin with each year: "You have to be yourself," she adds. "I'm not going to change because of anybody else. That's another thing I've learned over the years. People want you for who you are, especially in this business. Don't change. Be you. And if people don't like you for you, it's okay. It's fine."

As for who she is, she concedes that part of her will always have her own "bad girl" streak. "Oh yeah, absolutely!" she adds with a laugh. "I don't think that's ever going to change. I'm going to be 60 years old still dancing on tables, probably."

KISS Performs As A Trio After Paul Stanley Undergoes Bicep Surgery

KISS is by far one of the most recognizable bands around. The signature makeup, the outfits, the pyrotechnics, etc. But at their show at the Beverly Hilton Hotel for the "Race To Erase MS Gala," there was a noticeable absence. That was because frontman Paul Stanley (aka "The Starchild") was forced to miss the gig after going under the knife for bicep surgery.

Stanley was eager to update fans on his condition via his Twitter, saying "Tore my bicep tendon. Surgery reattached it with a screw and stitches to anchor in place. Not much I can do now!"

Dancer Artem Chigvintsev hints a return to Strictly, but not necessarily to compete...

Former Strictly Come Dancing champ Artem Chigvintsev has hinted that he could be returning to the series, but "not as a competitive professional"...

Russian Artem, who appeared as a professional dancer on the BBC One series from 2010 to 2013, won the dance contest with Kara Tointon in 2010 and ended up dating the actress.

Since then, he has appeared on Dancing With The Stars – the US version of Strictly.

Artem, who was taking at the Annual Race to Erase MS Gala at the Beverly Hilton hotel, said: "I had a fun four years [on Strictly]. I had different partners and was lucky enough to win the show."

"I just wanted to try something else. When Dancing With The Stars approached me, I thought about it and why not try?"

"I don't know what the future holds. We'll see."

"I'm definitely going to be doing something in the UK but I don't know if it's going to be Strictly as a competitive professional."

So, maybe as a contributor to Strictly's spin-off show, It Takes Two? Or as a guest judge?

Artem also commented on why he left the show...

"To me what was tough... the BBC kept changing producers and executive producers of the show. So once you really know how to work with one person, then they are changing and you're trying to find a way to work with another person."

"I think that was my biggest determination why I wanted to leave the show."

"Everybody tried to bring something new and tried to change it. I'm always a big believer of 'why change something when it really works'. I think that's the biggest reason why I left."

Strictly Come Dancing will return to BBC1 in the autumn.

23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala

23RD ANNUAL RACE TO ERASE MS GALA

Jackie Watson, the French reporter, was on the red carpet at the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala held at the Beverly Hilton Hotel's International Ballroom.

The Race to Erase MS event is a celebrity spectacular and gala which is held each year in order to raise funds for research to find the cause and ultimate cure for multiple sclerosis. This year's 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala was hosted by LL Cool J, Jaime Pressly, and Ashley Tisdale.

Jackie had the wonderful privilege of speaking with several celebrities such as actress Cybill Shepherd, Carolyn Rafsellan, Ashley Tisdale, Shaun Robinson, Carmoe Electra, Lori Anderson, Clay Walker, Kristen Vargness, Larry and Steven King, and of course, the 23rd Annual Race to Erase Gala MS founder, Nancy Davis.

There were special musical performances by The Voice's 2015 winner Jordan Smith, the legendary, all-time Rock N' Roll group KISS, and many, many more.

According to the Erase MS website, these annual gala's have been instrumental in raising desperately needed funds for important MS research. Proceeds go directly to the Center Without Walls program, a unique collaboration of eminent physicians, scientists and clinicians nationwide developing innovative research programs and new therapeutic approaches to eradicate MS from our planet forever. They are advancing our efforts to find a cure much faster than any one entity could alone. (for www.erasems.org).

This was such a great event for a very special cause! It was truly an honor to be a part of this special gala.

Ashley Tisdale is laughing off her recent wardrobe malfunction.

The 30-year-old actress didn't expect photographer's camera flashes to expose the fact that she went braless at the Wisteria's Day premiere in Hollywood, California, on Wednesday, but -- whop! -- they were still.

But when ET's Sophie Schillaci caught up with her at the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala in Beverly Hills on Friday, Tisdale brushed the incident off.

"I literally saw the pictures on Twitter start coming up, and I literally started laughing," she said. "I was like, 'Of course this would happen to me! Like, of course. But it's just one of those things that you have to laugh at. It's so ridiculous.'"

"I mean my stylist said, 'Do not wear those. You will see them,'" she added. "It was an option in the bag, though. I was like, 'Oh, it's an option. Maybe they felt like I could.' But no!"

Tisdale made sure that she didn't make the same mistake again, turning up for the event with her husband, Christopher French, in a gorgeous long-sleeve crochet white gown -- which featured a bralette.

"This is intentional tonight," she joked while pointing to her breasts.

This annual MS event was very important to Tisdale, who introduced a performance by last season's The Voice winner, Jordan Smith, during the gala.

"I love supporting any charity that I can and obviously with MS, I think it affects women in their 30s. It's really scary because I'm 30," she told ET. "I just love what [founder] Nancy Davis has done, making it her mission, putting together something like this, obviously trying to help and trying to find a cure for them."

It's nice to see the Clipped star support philanthropic efforts and keep a sense of humor, a character trait she says is a necessity in the entertainment industry. In fact, she continued to do so with ET when she was asked about her tried and true tricks for the red carpet.

"Be comfortable. Be very comfortable. Show off something that you don't plan on doing," she joked. "No, I think it's just about having fun. I don't take things too seriously. I like to have fun!"

Tisdale is definitely doing just that! In fact, she also opened up about her Young & Hungry spin-off, in which she'll bring back her heavily-tattooed character, Logan Rawlings.

"We're trying to find a way to tone down the tattoos, because when we thought of the character at first... [we] never thought that we would have to do it all the time!" she said of what became a recurring role. "We're going to come up with some creative ways to tone down the tattoos a little. Just because, I can't even explain to you, they stay on for days. I had to go to Pilates the next morning, and they were like, 'Ashley, you got new tattoos?' They're like colorful and crazy, so yeah, we're going to find something creative."

Now that's one functioning wardrobe we're excited to see!

Ace Frehley cancels concert due to dehydration and exhaustion

Ace Frehley cancels concert due to dehydration and exhaustion

Former KISS guitarist Ace Frehley is recovering after he was hospitalised for dehydration and exhaustion.

The rocker was due to perform in Poughkeepsie, New York on Saturday (18Apr16), but the 64-year-old required medical attention following his show in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania on Friday (15Apr16) and had to pull out of his second weekend concert.

"In consultation with his doctors, Ace, who aside from the exhaustion and dehydration has been given a clean bill of health, has reluctantly agreed to cancel tonight's sold out show at the Chance in Poughkeepsie, NY," read a message on Facebook.com. "The venue is working to reschedule the date in late September and expects to announce an exact date later this week."

"Once released from the hospital, Ace will be heading home to Southern California to recuperate," it continued. "We wish him a speedy recovery."

Ace's hospitalisation took place on the same day ex-bandmate Paul Stanley was forced to bow out of performing with KISS at the 23rd annual Race to Erase MS fundraising gala in California because of shoulder surgery.

"Tore my bicep tendon," he wrote on Instagram.com. "Surgery reattached it with a screw and stitches to anchor in place. Not much I can do now!"

"Thanks to my AMAZING doctor I WILL be great & ready to rock WAAAYYYY (sic) before the tour!" he added. "CANT WAIT! Freedom to Rock!"

KISS are set to kick off their latest trek in Boise, Idaho in July (16).

Ashley Tisdale laughs off wardrobe malfunction

Ashley Tisdale has laughed off her recent wardrobe malfunction, after she was unexpectedly exposed on the red carpet.

The 30-year-old actress was caught off guard when the camera flashes revealed she was braless at the Mother's Day film premiere in Hollywood, Los Angeles, on Wednesday (13Apr16).

"When you're feelin' (sic) yourself but your Gai Polaris wanna steal the show. Adying. Anotmy nipples. Aftethenipplecover," she captioned a shot of her nipple covers on Instagram on Thursday.

The High School Musical star confessed to Entertainment Tonight that her stylist told her not to wear the nipple covers, and called the social media frenzy over her unexpected exposure ridiculous.

"I literally saw the pictures on Twitter start coming up, and I literally started laughing," she said on Friday (15Apr16). "I was like, 'Of course this would happen to me!' Like, of course. But it's just one of those things that you have to laugh at. It's so ridiculous."

"I mean my stylist said, 'Do not wear those. You will see them,'" she added. "It was an option in the bag, though. I was like, 'Oh, it's an option. Maybe they felt like I could.' But no!"

Ashley made sure she didn't make the same mistake again at the 23rd Annual Race to Erase MS Gala in Beverly Hills on Friday, which she attended with husband Christopher French.

Pointing to her bralette she was wearing underneath her long-sleeve crochet gown, she joked, "This is intentional tonight."

'90s Stars Who Would Have Crushed It on Social Media, From Aaliyah to Johnny Depp

#TommyGirls

In what is perhaps the greatest '90s photo in existence, Tommy Hilfiger recruited the following ladies to wear his garb at Race to Erase MS Gala in 1999: China Chow, Gwen Stefani, Kidada Jones, the late great Aaliyah and actress Rashida Jones. Stefani was already hitting peak idol status and Aaliyah was one of the biggest acts in contemporary R&B.
